The Good Government Organization calls upon the citizens of Los Angeles to recognize the extent to which the future welfare of Los Angeles is involved in the present political campaign. We believe this is a time when past differences and small personalities should be laid aside and a get-together spirit cultivated. We solicit and will welcome the co-operation with us of all good citizens in the campaign for the election of Mayor Alexander and his associates.

GOOD GOVERNMENT ORGANIZATION.

George B. Anderson, Secretary.

COLOGNE (Germany) Nov. 3.—A dispatch to the Cologne Gazette from Berlin says the resignation of Herr von Danneberg, accompanying the "indiscretions" of the press, discloses most unjustifiable conditions. The "indiscretions" assert that the colonial office is not willing to accept responsibility for the treaty.

"A FOOL'S BARGAIN" SAYS CLEMENCEAU.

PARIS, Nov. 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] M. Clemenceau, former Premier, believes that the Morocco treaty, which will be signed by France and Germany tomorrow, is a bad bargain for France, according to the Cri de France, which contains the arguments it declares the noted statesman will make soon in the Senate in an effort to persuade it to reject the agreement. M. Clemenceau is recognized as one of the strongest political figures in France.

PEKING, Nov. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] China's Magna Charta, in which are incorporated all the constitutional demands of the army and the National Assembly, was formally promulgated today. The power to regenerate the country is in the hands of the Chinese themselves.

Through the legislative branch the Chinese people obtain a larger voice in the government than any other nation retaining the monarchical form. Parliament will be supreme. The National Assembly will have full legislative powers until a Parliament is formed. The Assembly will make the constitution and the throne must accept it.

OLD RIGHT WITHDRAWN.

Even the right, long exercised, to control the succession to the throne has been taken from the imperial clan and will be made a part of the constitution.

Yuan Shi Kai has declined the Premiership, begging the throne to excuse him on account of illness and age. This news greatly agitated official and diplomatic circles, as Yuan admitted he is the only man capable of handling the situation brought about by the epidemic political upheaval. If he persists, China will be hard pressed for a leader in this crisis.

UPHELD BY MANDARINS.

Mandarin of Yuan's party assert that although Yuan, through his lieutenants, played an important role in the promotion of the constitutional upheaval, he honestly does not desire to hold office. They believe, however, that he will accept if elected by the Assembly, preferring to receive his appointment from the representatives of the people rather than from the throne. It is believed the Assembly will elect him at once.

DOOM OF THE MANCHU FORESEEN BY YUAN.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Lord Curzon, of Kedleston, who was an Irish baron, but was made an Earl of the United Kingdom in the coronation honors, was today gazetted as Baron Ravensdale of Ravensdale.

In default of male issue, his eldest daughter will inherit the title of Baroness Ravensdale of Ravensdale, and it will be handed down by her to her eldest male heir. In default of such heir the title will pass to her sisters.

Lord Ravensdale's wife was Mary Victoria Leiter, daughter of L. Z. Leiter of Washington and Chicago. She died in 1906, leaving three daughters.

GERMANIA LAND MARINES.

BERLIN, Nov. 3.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Dispatches today from Tientsin, in German Kiaochow, announce that fifty German marines have left there to strengthen the foreign guard at Tientsin, the port of Peking, which is now crowded with refugees.

BOSTON, Nov. 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Republican leaders here charged the Republican State Committee of violation of the corrupt practices act by soliciting campaign contributions as "kickbacks" inasmuch as he knew the facts as far back as September 19 and held them back to use as campaign ammunition at the eleventh hour. The Boston Blower Company, a concern which was solicited by Republican circulars, is a subsidiary of Foss's big corporation, the Sturtevant Blower Works, and its treasurer, F. C. Weeks, is his confidential clerk.

The Democratic committee is in the same boat, as a letter has been discovered, signed by Chairman McDonald, soliciting contributions which would be treated as "kickbacks."

Dis-Attr. Pelitier is now probing charges against the Boston Herald, the Outlook Magazine, Col. Roosevelt, the United Shoe Machinery Company, the American Woolen Company, and other corporations and their officers.

Made by Gov. Foss that they violated the law in publishing untruthful political advertisements. Treasurer Louis Coudridge of the United Shoe Machinery Company today characterized Gov. Foss bluntly as a liar.

Dis-Attr. Pelitier is paying special attention to the unprinted page advertisement in the Boston Herald, taken from a recent issue of the Outlook. This advertisement pays its respects to the so-called Schedule K.

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The first step under the surface of what promises to be the most absorbing murder mystery Chicago ever has known resulted yesterday in a formal charge of murder against Mrs. Louis Vermilya.

More than three grains of arsenic were found in the organs of Arthur T. Bissonette, the policeman, who was Mrs. Vermilya's last lodger and whose mysterious death caused the investigation.

A further glimpse of the doings in the Vermilya flat probably will be given today when Coroner Hoffman will examine the body of another former lodger, who died under circumstances similar to those attending Bissonette's death.

Monday, a third body will be examined, with the prospect that the bodies of six relatives and associates of the woman, who died under mysterious circumstances, will be examined for poison later.

WOMAN UNDER GUARD.

Last night the Vermilya flat of mystery, No. 413 East Twenty-ninth street, was converted into a jail. Four detectives and two uniformed police men were stationed there.

Mrs. Vermilya's door, on the stair for a possible egress at outside.

In the pockets of one of the guards was a warrant for the arrest of the woman on the charge that she murdered Bissonette. It had been sworn out at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, but was not served because Mrs. Vermilya still was not in a normal condition. It will be read to her tomorrow morning.

The manner in which Mrs. Vermilya received the news that poison had been found in the organs removed from Bissonette's body—her face—the called "him"—was seemingly "in keeping with the charge of wholesale murder that the police have preferred against her."

MEAL INTERRUPTED.

She was eating a generous portion of a thick steak when a nurse told her. Mrs. Vermilya was conversing a section of the meal to her mouth when addressed.

"The fact of the chemist has been completed?" asked Mrs. Vermilya, fork poised in air.

"A large quantity of arsenic was found by the doctors," was the reply.

"Is that so? Well, I don't know just what I will do now," said Mrs. Vermilya. Then the fork continued to her mouth and the steak was consumed with undiminished appetite.

FLOWERS PAINTFUL.

About the room were flowers sent here by friends, and possibly male admirers. The woman seemed far more interested in the flowers and the contents of her plate than in the fact that she just had been charged with murder.

PRESIDENT GETS TO VOTE, SENDS REGISTRATION IN.

Some of the Important Questions that the Executive Will Cover in His Forthcoming Message to Congress Will Be the Tariff and the Trusts—Goes from Hot Springs to Cincinnati Tomorrow Morning.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

HOT SPRINGS (Va.) Nov. 3.—President Taft will get a vote at the Cincinnati and Hamilton county elections. For two weeks there has been doubt as to whether he would have an opportunity to cast a ballot in his home city next Tuesday.

The President sent his registration papers to Cincinnati two days before the election board decided he could not vote unless he appeared in person before next Monday night and swore he was a qualified elector.

Mr. Taft accordingly will leave here Sunday night, make the necessary affidavit before the election board Monday and be prepared on Tuesday to vote.

Mr. Taft arrived at Hot Springs early today. Mrs. Taft and Miss Helen Taft, who arrived here a few days ago, met him at the station and they had breakfast with him for the first time in ten weeks.

According to persons close to the President, some of the important questions to which he will call the attention of Congress in his annual message are the tariff, the trusts, the second class postage rates, stock watering and over-capitalization, conservation, currency reform and navy reorganization.

The peace treaties will not be referred to in the message. It was said today, since they are now before the Senate. A special message to that body alone is believed to be in prospect.

His Pittsburgh speech showed that the President was opposed to amendment of the Sherman and trust law, and indicated also that he did not believe it should be repealed.

Although President Taft had planned a four day's stay in Hot Springs, with the idea of resting, he will do some work here on his annual message to Congress.

Mr. Taft will devote much attention in the coming message to a discussion of tariff reform, with reference to the forthcoming report of the tariff board on the wool and cotton schedules. He will discuss the "trust" question and recommend that the Federal incorporation bill drawn up and presented to Congress two years ago be enacted into law.

The reports of both the Hughes Committee, which is investigating second-class postage rates, and the Railroad Securities Committee, which is looking into the question of stock "watering," will be in Mr. Taft's message in a few days, and they will enable him to treat these matters in his message.

President Taft brought his second long tour of the country to a temporary halt here today. He expects to enjoy a rest in Hot Springs until Monday.

According to the official figures of the "Swing around the circle," kept under the direction of Secretary Hilges, the trip has been the longest ever taken by a President. In going from Beverly, Mass., to Hot Springs, by way of Seattle, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Washington and a few hundred other cities, Mr. Taft has traveled 12,416 miles, beating his own previous record by about 800 miles.

Before he returns to Washington for the winter the President will visit Ohio, Kentucky and Tennessee, and will add 12,416 miles to the record. Mr. Hilges "swing" figure show that the President passed through twenty-five states.

SENSE OF DUTY GUIDES HIS PEN.

CORRESPONDENT SENDS STORY OF OWN WIFE'S DEATH.

Oklahoma Newspaper Man Arrives Home to Find Himself Fatally Burned, Witnesses Dying Agony, Then Goes to Office and Writes "Story" on Telegraph Wire.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

OKLAHOMA CITY (Okla.) Nov. 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] With the pang of grief tearing his heart, and his mind still in the tumult of recent calamity, J. H. Reigner, editor of the Antlers News-Record, tonight sat down, one hour after his wife had been burned to death, wrote the story and put it on the wire.

Under a weight of affliction and disaster that would have paralyzed the ordinary mind so as to make it unfit for the routine of business life, sense of duty and the training and instincts of the newspaper man proved stronger than the pangs of sorrow.

This is the story Reigner wrote a few moments after his wife was dead: "ANTLERS (Okla.) Nov. 3.—Mrs. Emma M. Reigner, wife of the editor of the Antlers News-Record, died at 7:19 tonight after having been badly burned. She was standing next to an open fireplace today about 1 o'clock, when her dress caught fire. Her clothing was soon in flames and her body was badly burned. Her husband, who was on his way home, was too late to render any assistance. Doctors were summoned and they gave up the effort to relieve the severe pain from which she suffered. The funeral will be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at the Antlers funeral home."

AVIATOR RODGERS DUE IN PASADENA LATE TOMORROW

Transcontinental Flyer Has Terrifying Experience Four Thousand Feet in Air Over Salton Sea—Cylinder Explodes, Wrecks Machine—Life Saved by Skillful Piloting—Rushing Repairs for New Start.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

IMPERIAL JUNCTION (Cal.) Nov. 3.—Unless some engine or other trouble unforeseen develops, Galbraith Perry Rodgers, transcontinental aviator, will practically end his long flight from the Atlantic to the Pacific Sunday afternoon, when he arrives in Pasadena.

Rodgers' hour of departure from this place depends largely upon how soon his mechanics can adjust the magneto and motor. It all goes well, it is expected he will resume his flight on Sunday morning, make a bee-line for the western coast and land at some one of the beach cities, which one is not yet known. This will be the final termination of the greatest long-distance flight across country by aeroplane that the world has ever witnessed, and Rodgers as the first to fly across the American continent will secure immortality among the pioneers of the pilots of the air.

When Rodgers took the air at 7:30 this morning at the obscure little desert water hole called Imperial Junction, Ariz., with but a trifle over 100 miles between him and the Pacific Coast, there was every reason to believe that he would make his goal, or at least, very near to it, by evening.

FIGHT FOR LIFE.

Two hours later he was fighting for his life, 4000 feet in the air, over the Salton Sea.

Rodgers stated it was nothing but Providence that saved his life. With a cylinder blown out, and his motor a complete wreck, Rodgers plummeted four miles and landed in front of the depot here. He was flying at the rate of seventy-five miles an hour, when, without an instant's warning, the No. 1 cylinder exploded, tearing out the crank pin, bending the shaft and ruining the magneto. Several pieces of flying metal passed perilously near to Rodgers' head.

Rodgers immediately "warped" his machine and with a circle two miles in diameter, started a spiral to earth. His landing was as graceful as it was easy. A few railroad men were the only ones who witnessed the descent and, with Rodgers, placed the wreckage in the depot.

FOREIGN WARS
OR REVOLUTION.Honduras Has the Pick of Old Man's Bounties.Government Victory Is Reported in First Brush.Engagements With Bonilla's Men in Three Towns.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
PUERTO CORTES (Honduras)
Nov. 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Unless emergency measures be taken, the hand by President Bonilla's accomplish their purpose, Honduras soon will face not only the most serious revolution in her history, but a double foreign war, the outside foes being Salvador on the one hand and Guatemala on the other. The revolution broke Sunday and as was to be expected, first advances reported government victories.

THREE ENGAGEMENTS.
Comayagua, San Pedro Sula, and a place about twenty miles to the south of the latter, already have witnessed conflicts, but they are believed to have been only skirmishes and it is known here that the total death list does not exceed fifty.

Er. Velasco, has withdrawn towards the Salvadoran frontier, but government agents here generally believe the feared retreat merely is a ruse to draw followers of Bonilla towards the State from which the insurgents are thought to have control and which is believed to be almost open in its sympathy for the rebels.
The unpopularity of American men may be said to be at the bottom of the whole affair. Agents of the opposition say the rebel leaders were ordered not to take the command unless assured the elections would be unfair. The election of Bonilla was known to mean that the government would throw its full strength for the American town.

TEN TO ONE.

As evidence of the claim that the actions were unfair, they point to the fact that Bonilla was named by a majority of ten to one in the balloting conducted the three days of this week. The insurgents also claim the use of wholesale threats, intimidation, imprisonment, and bodily punishment to coerce voters.

Throughout Honduras, and even in the streets of Tegucigalpa, are posted manifestos saying his opponents will lay down their arms at once. If Bonilla will give some tangible guarantee that he will head a truly representative government.

This latter Gen. Bonilla seems by no means inclined to do, at any rate, for the present. He is making every available military command and is taking vigorous measures to guard the frontiers.

THE MENACE OF GUATEMALA.

It is believed by no means so great as that of Salvador, but President Estrada Cabrera, for long considered the wildest ruler in Central America, is upon the alert and it is thought would move if he does not fear to endanger certainly neighboring projects he has under consideration.

EMILIO GOMEZ WON'T RETURN.

Declines to Visit Mexico and Explain Alleged Complicity in Conspiracy Against Madero.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) Nov. 3.— [Exclusive Dispatch.]—Emilio Vasquez Gomez, erstwhile candidate for President of Mexico, now in this city, declines to return to the republic in order to give personal denial to the stories in circulation there that he is about to join Gen. Bernardo Reyes in a revolution against the Madero regime.

It was learned here today that a telegram had come to Emilio from his brother, Francisco Vasquez Gomez, suggesting that the former return at once to Mexico. Emilio has wired that he does not think the time is ripe.

The action of Francisco in asking Emilio to return comes as a direct sequel to the resignation of Francisco from the Mexican Cabinet, as Minister of Public Instruction. Charges were placed before President De la Barra that Emilio Gomez had sent his brother a cipher message, declaring the time opportune for revolution against Madero.

This telegram is alleged to have been found in the streets of the City of Mexico and later deciphered.
When De la Barra became aware of its significance, Francisco Gomez was forced out of the Cabinet. He claimed at the time of this incident that the message was forged by enemies, and that Emilio could prove that fact.

Emilio, however, will not go to Mexico for the present, though importuned by his brother to do so, in order to clear up that matter of the alleged message from brother to brother.

ham of Santa Barbara, Cal., and her some time ago, was writing a play gins safely over, careful and conservative estimates of the sugar crop in-

NEW CRISIS IN PEKING.

this city confirm the resignation of Yuan Shi Kai, the newly-appointed Chinese Premier, and say further that he has declared for the revolutionists and already has informed the rebel leader of his intention to induce the imperial troops under his command to follow the revolutionary flag. The cable states that Yuan's reason for his act, as given to the government, was the belief that the rule of the Manchus was ended.

Another reason for Yuan's resignation is given in a Peking cable to the conservative Chinese paper here.
The cable, literally translated, is as follows:

"PEKING, Nov. 3.—The prince and nobles all petition the Prince Regent protesting that Yuan Shi Kai is setting too much power and a destiny to the benefit of the royal house. He, the regent, cannot reply, but drew a very sad, deep sigh."

The conservatives here argue that the situation against Yuan in Peking, thus reported, caused him to sever his relations with the government.

According to a dispatch from Shanghai to the Chinese Free Press, the revolutionists explain their action in firing on the ship carrying the Japanese flag by saying the vessel was filled with armaments of war for the imperial troops and merely used the flag as a blind. The incident occurred on the river near Han Yang, where the great arsenal is.

The revolutionists are said to be occupying the province of Kwang Si, west of Canton. No resistance was offered by the people. The revolutionary army is marching from Wu Chow, the metropolis of the province, to invade the district of Shuhing in the Canton province.

The Shung Sai Yat Po, daily paper, has received cables confirming the news that the people of Yu Nan proclaim independence and also the peaceful occupation of the native city of Shanghai by the revolutionary forces.

ON ENGLISH LINES.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—Yuan Shi Kai has resigned the office of Premier of China. His reasons for so doing are not made public. The throne has issued an edict proclaiming a new constitution, demanded by the national assembly, on the lines of the English governmental system, according to advice received here.

SHANGHAI FALLS

INTO REBEL HANDS.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
SHANGHAI, Nov. 3.—The arsenal and the city of Shanghai were taken over by the revolutionists late this afternoon. No resistance was offered by the officials nor by such of the public as remains loyal. It is understood that Li Sung, ten miles north of Shanghai, and the up-river city of Ningbo, are in the hands of the rebels. The British legation, however, has not been captured. The Kiang will be captured by the rebels
tomorrow.

Some of the foreign warships landed men in the city to see the rebels take possession. Foreign volunteers were called out, and have taken every precaution to protect the concessions.
It is understood that the British legation,
however, has not been captured. The
tomorrow.

It became evident early in the afternoon that the revolutionists purposed to assume control of affairs here within a short time, though it was not thought they would occupy the arsenal before the close of the day. The progress of the revolutionaries was halted over all the buildings in the vicinity of the arsenal, and thousands of soldiers, without effect, were insignia of the constitutionalists gathered in the street. The police made no attempt to interfere, on the contrary, they have been friendly and helpful to the revolutionaries.

The Tsoai, realizing the inevitable, caused notices to be posted that the native city might be taken over by the revolutionaries, but did not hope that the public would not be thrown into a panic, and that the shops selling food, should not be closed except at the hour.

At 5:30 o'clock all telephone and telegraph communication with the arsenal was cut off. The rebel throng grew more excited, a number of shots were fired by the government forces in the direction of the mob, but these were without effect, and it was plain that the Chinese soldiers, the police and the native volunteers were all in sympathy with the rebels. At this point the Tsoai led and the arsenal and native city quietly capitulated.

The revolutionary leaders here have telegraphed Gen. Li Yuen Heng, the head of the rebel movement, inviting him to cease hostilities pending developments at Peking. Their message is being forwarded to Gen. Li from Wu Hu by a special dispatch boat.

Complaints reached this city today that the rebels holding the forts below Kiang have been firing and discriminately at steamers passing that city in the night. The latest advices from Hankow give assurance that the foreign concessions are safe and have not been seriously disturbed by the rioting.

The province of Yun-Nan, on the southern frontier, has declared its independence, according to reports received here today.

Yun-Nan, which fronts on Tibet and the Indian Ocean, has an area of nearly 150,000 square miles, and a population estimated at 12,000,000.
It contains China's richest mines, and is a source of the most valuable products of the earth. It was the principal scene of the great Mohammedan rebellion, which lasted for sixteen years and was suppressed in 1873.

CONSTITUTIONAL IN MUTINY.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
LONDON, Nov. 3.—A dispatch from Shanghai says the native constabulary of Chekiang, a suburb of Shanghai, which forms part of the Chinese quarter, mutinied today and destroyed the police station and the residence of the Chief of Police. Foreign volunteers were mobilized to maintain order. After the revolutionaries took possession of the native city of Shanghai, they notified the foreign consuls that a provisional republican government has been established.

NINETEEN CLAUSES

IN MAGNA CHARTA.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
PEKING, Nov. 3.—The National Assembly completed today a draft on the basis of which it proposes to construct the new Constitution of China.
It was submitted to the throne and accepted immediately.

Another development today was the receipt by the throne of a memorial from Yuan Shi Kai, in which he refused to accept the premiership.
An edict was issued this afternoon confirming the throne's acceptance of the principles for a constitution drawn up by the National Assembly.

A committee of the assembly will be appointed to draw up the constitution. It will be assisted by representatives of the army and the work will probably occupy months, as the provincial assemblies will be consulted.

An official dispatch from Hankow says that fierce hand-to-hand fighting is occurring in the streets. The im-perialists are wholly out of hand of their officers and are attacking every one they meet.

The outlines of the proposed constitution have excited much interest.
It is entirely directed at the Manchu dynasty, it is a revolutionary advance over the constitutional scheme pre-mulated by the throne in 1907, which was modeled after the Constitution of Japan and which was thought of as a conservative foreign friend of China to be acceptable.

The tentative plan of the constitution provides for the perpetuity of the Manchu dynasty, but restricts it by a constitution, which is to be written by the National Assembly and subject to amendment by Parliament.

The draft follows:

(1.) The Emperor shall reign forever.

(2.) A person of the Ta-Ching dynasty, the great pure dynasty, the same being the name adopted by the ruling family, shall be Emperor involved.

(3.) The power of the Emperor shall be limited by the Constitution.

(4.) The order of succession to the throne shall be prescribed by the Constitution.

(5.) The Constitution shall be drawn up and adopted by the National Assembly and be promulgated by the Emperor.

(6.) The power of amending the Constitution shall belong to Parliament.

(7.) The members of the upper house shall be elected by the people from among those particularly eligible.

(8.) The Parliament shall elect and the Emperor shall appoint the Premier, who will recommend the other members of the cabinet, who shall be appointed by the Emperor.
The Imperial princes will be ineligible for the office of Premier or members of the cabinet or administrators of the provinces.

(9.) If the Premier, when impeached by Parliament, does not dissolve Parliament, he must resign. One Cabinet shall not be allowed to dissolve Parliament more than once.

(10.) The Imperial family shall assume direct control of the army and navy, but when this power is used in connection with internal affairs the Emperor must obtain the consent of the Parliament to be decided by Parliament.

(11.) Imperial decrees cannot be issued to replace the law, except in the case of urgent necessity. In such cases they may be issued in accordance with special conditions.

(12.) International treaties shall not be concluded without the consent of Parliament, nor a treaty for the conclusion of peace or a declaration of war may be made by the Emperor if Parliament is not sitting, the approval of Parliament to be obtained afterwards.

(13.) Ordinances in connection with the administration shall be settled by acts of Parliament.

(14.) In case the financial budget fails to receive the approval of Parliament, the government must submit the budget of the previous year, nor may items of expenditure not provided for in the budget be appended thereto. The government shall not adopt extraordinary financial measures outside the budget.

(15.) Parliament shall fix the expenses of the Imperial household, and any increase or decrease therein.

(16.) Regulations in connection with the Imperial family must not contradict the Constitution.

(17.) The two Houses shall establish the machinery for the administration of the court.

(18.) The National Assembly shall act on Articles 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22,
23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32,
33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 39, 40, 41, 42,
43, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52,

LAID TO THE BRITONS.

BREACH OF NEUTRALITY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
SHANGHAI, Nov. 3.—Except for the foreign concessions, Shanghai tonight is entirely in the hands of the revolutionists, who captured the city late this afternoon. There was practically no resistance, only a few shots being fired.

All the Chinese soldiers have joined the rebels, and the police and firemen apparently are sympathizing with them, for they are wearing white badges on their arms.

After taking over the arsenal, the rebels have taken the Tsoai's yamen in the vicinity.

The Associated Press correspondent this afternoon covered the entire out-rigger of the revolutionaries, but did not discover a single instance of disorder.
Evening the native city, complete order prevailed. Every courtesy is shown to the foreigners, and the British and American consuls are safe and sound. The revolutionaries are continuing on duty. Shops are closed tonight.

It is understood that one reason for the revolutionaries taking Shanghai today was that two Norwegian vessels had been loaded at the arsenal during the last two days with ammunition for the rebels. These vessels succeeded in getting away.

Soon after demands for the surrender of the arsenal, came an attempt to take possession of the British Shanghai Railway, which was frustrated personally by W. U. Pope, general manager of the company. Mr.
Pope found the British engineers inside the station and disarmed him.
Then he telephoned the British Consul that the railway property was threatened, and the British volunteers of Shanghai were called out and mounted guard over the station and outlying properties. This action has caused much comment because this section of the railroad is entirely outside the concession.

The apparent breach of neutrality is defended because the British bondholders claim a prior right to the railway property. The insurgents say they were prepared to maintain order and while they intended to seize the police station and destroy it. Therefore, they regard the British Consul's action in calling out British volunteers as the first breach of neutrality, and its effect may be far-reaching.

CENTENARIAN
AND UNKISSED.Spinster in Ohio Expects to Live
Ten Years More and Hasn't Missed Spooning.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
ADAMSVILLE (O.) Nov. 3.— [Exclusive Dispatch.] Miss Rachel Bell, who lives on the same plot of ground where she was born, will celebrate her hundredth birthday on Sunday.
Today she said:

"I must confess that for 100 years I have never been kissed by any person but my parents.
I have lived a long life and have had plenty of enjoyment.
When I was a young girl I went to many parties and dances. We always had a good time and it always went without any of what you call spooring in it. I had plenty of chances to marry, but could never find a man I loved, so have always remained single."

Miss Bell says she expects to live ten more years and that there is nothing so sweet as life when one gets old.

AVIATOR RODGERS

acropole on a pile of ties, in order to lift it from the ground and make repairs that much the easier.

WORKING ON ENGINE.
When the special train following Rodgers arrived, his mechanics at once began work on the engine. The three mechanics practically had to rebuild a motor, and all the material they had to work on was the remains of this one and the one wrecked at Kyle, Tex., October 29. For a time it seemed as if repairs could be made in time for a start late today, but this was later abandoned and the mechanics announced if the motor could be repaired in time for a start Sunday they would do well.

When Rodgers reached Imperial Junction, he had flown 400 miles in 100 minutes. In other words, the actual time he has put in from Sheephead Bay to Imperial Junction is three days, six hours and twenty-three minutes, which is much faster than the time of the fastest express trains.

FOWLER EXPECTED IN EL PASO LATE TONIGHT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
EL PASO, Nov. 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Flyer Robert G. Fowler is expected to arrive here Saturday evening or Sunday morning, just one week after Cal P. Rodgers flew in from the East and circled the wireless towers.

Fowler left Benson, Ariz., at 1 o'clock today and expected to reach Bisbee, Ariz., before dark. His plan was to fly from there to El Paso and spend Sunday and probably Monday here in getting his biplane repaired and ready for the flight across Texas, on his way to New York.

Unlike Rodgers, Aviator Fowler is not using a special train, but is having his repair work done in each town visited.

FOWLER IN BISBEE;

MAKES GOOD FLIGHT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
BISBEE (Ariz.) Nov. 3.—Coast-to-Coast Aviator Robert G. Fowler, eastbound, arrived in Bisbee at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon, after making a flight from Benson, sixty-five miles of here, in one hour and forty-five minutes actual flying time. This trip was without mishap.

Sixteen miles west of Bisbee, Fowler lost his bearings for a time and made a landing on a ranch where a gang of cowboys set him right as to directions, and he came on to Bisbee.
He made a nice landing on the grounds of the Warren Country Club, coming down in a grand spiral sweep.

For a short time today Fowler was flying over old Mexico. At Naco, he turned his machine south and flew over Mexico for a mile and a half, and then turned back into the United States.

Conditions tonight are not propitious for a flight tomorrow, as it is raining, but Fowler announced that unless the storm grew worse by morning he would start at 8 o'clock for Deming, N. M., 177 miles east. He expects to be in El Paso by Sunday afternoon.

FOWLER'S HIGHEST ALTITUDE TODAY WAS

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—[Exclusive

the Second Circuit, which includes
New York; William Cather Hook, United States Circuit Judge for the cally all the territory east of the

WELSH HERE TO TRAIN FOR BOUT

Starts Work Monday for Thanksgiving Go.

May Take Up Quarters at Venice Camp.

Live Boxing News for the Fistic Fans.

BY GARY OLIVER.

Freddie Welsh, ex-lightweight champion of England, who is scheduled to meet Wolgast here at the Vernon arena on Thanksgiving afternoon, arrived in town yesterday afternoon. He looks good.

Six weeks ago he went East to see about an engagement that he has with Tom O'Rourke in New York to fight three fights for him. Freddie fought one of these matches and then O'Rourke reported him to the boxing commission in New York, but after explaining the case, Welsh was fully exonerated from the charge of breaking his contract. Welsh showing that O'Rourke had misrepresented the matter.

Freddie did not have any matches in the East, for Welsh would not fight him, and as there was nothing else doing in the lightweight class, he has returned.

Since he trained at Venice the officials down at the beach town have put the ban on boxers training there, but Welsh feels confident that he will be able to remove that feeling. For Venice never had a more peaceable citizen than Welsh, while he was there. Manager Baron Long is expected here in a few days, or as soon as Wolgast arrives, and when the Baron comes, the details of the coming contest will be arranged.

The weight is to be 133 pounds, ringside, and of course both of the boys will have no trouble in making it. Wolgast has always been below that figure, and Welsh can make it by natural training methods without any sweating.

Welsh is on the lookout for sparring partners and in the morning will take today from Venice for the purpose of digging up several. He has one with him in Dick Wheeler, a strong, husky fellow who trained him for his fight with Matty Baldwin in San Francisco some months ago.

Welsh wants more than one, however, for Wheeler is really his trainer and not his sparring partner. It is expected that Secretary Hancock of the local club will dig up a number of good sluggers today.

TRAINING QUARTERS.

It may be possible that Rivers will move down to Venice to work with Welsh for his bout with Conley. Both Rivers and Conley want to perform at Doyle's Vernon camp, but as Wolgast is expected at Doyle's within a week, there must be some change made. Wolgast and Rivers do not get along well, while Conley and Wolgast do, and Welsh stated last night that he might induce Rivers to go to Venice and train with him.

Such an arrangement would be the greatest thing that ever happened to Rivers, for he could not get a better man in the world to box with, while Rivers would furnish a lot of exercise for Welsh.

Manager McCarty yesterday wired that to Johnny Coulton an offer to fight Danny Webster here December 16. While it is not likely that Webster could beat Coulton, on past performance he would give him a good fight. At that Webster might win, for it is rumored that Coulton is not the boy he was when he had his father behind to coach him.

In fact Conley himself says that the first one that goes against Coulton will beat him for the lantam title, and Webster might be the one to turn the trick.

Danny is said to have come back in first-class style, and a match with Coulton would certainly demonstrate whether he has. Many of the local bugs would like to see Danny in action again, and would welcome his return to the ring.

Conley will probably remain at Doyle's training camp and intends to tear into hard work again today. This afternoon he is scheduled to box five different boys one round each, and those picked out are Battling Frankie, Fred Corbett, Ernie Clark, Louis Hahn and Victor Perente. Clark is the amateur champion who recently won the title at the boxing show of the Los Angeles Athletic Club, while not forgetting the others. Perente is one of the fastest kids that has ever shown here in the sparring line.

Secretary Hancock of the Pacific Athletic Club announced last night that he had selected Battling Frankie and Louis Hahn to furnish the ten-round semi-final for the Hahn-Conley battle. It is his intention to have a ten, six and four-round go for November 18, as preliminaries to the Rivers-Conley affair.

OXY SCRUBS TRAMPLE VARSITY IN THE DUST.

In a hot, fast game yesterday afternoon the Occidental scrubs got revenge for their many daily drubbings and their defeat of last week by mauling the varsity over the 11 to 6 route.

Last week the varsity handed it to the scrubs 22 to 6 in a regular game, and this week the scrubs went on the field determined to win or burst.

The scrubs were in the best of form, while the varsity were in the throes of a slump.

The entire second team played the game of their lives and Sid Foster was the particular star of the occasion, making both of the scrubs touchdowns after spectacular runs. The varsity started the scoring after ten minutes of hard work on the part of both teams. The first team carried the ball to the scrubs' thirty-yard line, where they were held for two downs. Then they made a forward pass from punt formation, Seay throwing the ball to Henry Wieman, who ran through the field for a touchdown. Bradbeer kicked an easy goal.

This seemed to get the scrubs' goat and they started out like wild men, carrying the ball to the varsity's thirty-five-yard line, where they pulled off a new forward pass formation, in which Foster snatched the spheroid in a spectacular manner and ran over the line for a touchdown between the posts. He then missed an easy goal, the ball striking the pillar.

The next touchdown came after three downs. "Tubby" Wieman received for the scrubs and ran the ball back fifteen yards. The scrubs were unable to advance the ball and Foster dropped back for a punt. He took the ball from the center and after making a fake forward pass to the left, tore around the right end for a run of seventy yards and a touchdown. The run was spectacular, and Foster received an ovation from the bleachers. Wieman kicked the goal.

The game ended soon after with the ball in the possession of the scrubs in the middle of the field. After the struggle Coach Finkel said that the game came out just as he expected and that he thought it would do the varsity a world of good.

WOMAN'S CLUB MEETING.

Los Angeles Federation Will Hold Annual Session in Ventura About the Middle of Month.

VENTURA, Nov. 2.—The Los Angeles District Federation of Women's Clubs will meet in this city November 16, 17 and 18, in annual session, at the Athene Clubhouse and Presbyterian Church. The Ventura County Association of Women's Clubs will act as hostess for the occasion. A complete programme of exercises for the three days' session has been arranged and a number of prominent speakers will address the session on timely topics. Among the speakers will be Mrs. J. B. Nichols, E. M. Langtry, Dr. Goebbler, and Supt. J. F. Francis of Los Angeles.

NEWS BRIEFS.

Extensive arrangements are being made for the entertainment of President Benjamin Ide Wheeler of the University of California, who will visit in this city on Saturday evening in the interest of the university. The object of the visit is the formation of a county alumni association. Among the visitors who will be present are Hon. T. R. Hard, a regent of the university; Judge Robert M. Clark, of Santa Paula; Superior Judge Sherman D. Thatcher of Nordhoff.

Sixty men with teams are now at work on the embankment being built by Santa Paula and the Southern Pacific near Santa Paula. The embankment is for the purpose of expounding and controlling the waters of Santa Paula Creek above Santa Paula and preventing them overflowing.

Last May Charles Greene's horse ran into a dangling telephone wire on the Gill ranch and was killed. While the horse was killed by the telephone wires the judge in the wire came from a high-power wire belonging to the Ventura County Power Company, across which the telephone wire had fallen when broken down by a falling tree. Greene said the telephone company for the death of his horse and obtained a judgment in the Justice Court for $299. The telephone company did not feel that it was to blame since the judge from the other company had done the real killing. The telephone company appealed the case and the Superior Court has sustained the verdict of the lower court. Judge Clark held, however, that the Ventura County Power Company was as much to blame as the telephone company, but he could not consider it as his had not been made a party to the suit.

TRAP-SHOOTER USES PREMIER.

Purchases Handsome Six-Cylinder and Tours Over Much Rough Country.

George L. Lyon of Durham, S. C., amateur champion trap-shooter of the world, at the annual opening show at the Premier Motor Manufacturing Company at Indianapolis last week made the first purchase when he ordered a six-cylinder "Series M" Premier with two bodies, the limousine and seven-passenger models. This is Lyon's twenty-sixth car. He has been an enthusiastic motorist for the past eight years and it is probable that he also holds the record for owning more automobiles than any other individual. When Lyon won the amateur trap-shooting championship at

SIXTEEN PHOENIX RACERS READY TO START TONIGHT.

BY BERT C. SMITH.

TONIGHT sixteen motor cars start for Phoenix. A crowd of at least 10,000 is expected at Second and Spring streets, where the Maxwell will be sent away by Starter Eddie Maier at 10:45 o'clock. With Clarence Smith at the wheel of the handom Stoddard-Dayton will be the next to leave.

With these four cars shooting over the turnpike at a pace that will turn the engines over at a fearful clip, some thrills should be given to the roadster will shoot north on Spring street to First, then will follow east on First to Boyle avenue. The cars will leave the city along East Seventh street and out over the Whittier road.

With $7000 as the prize to fight for these cars will be locked in a fierce speed duel from the second they are sent away until the last car reaches Phoenix. Some may be wrecked, drivers may be injured, but the race is one of the greatest in the history of motordom and the automobile dealers of this city are keenly alive to the danger.

Every precaution possible to avoid an accident has been taken. A driver may take a turn too fast. This may mean severe injury or death to the men. At Santa Ana, H. O. Connell, president of the Automobile Club there, has arranged to post the road with red lights. The cars will be driven down First street to Main, where the red lights will glow and then along Main street to First, where they will shoot away for Tucson.

One of the best vantage points to watch the cars will be along the Whittier road. When they hit the smooth turnpike, these cars will be making their best speed. The drivers have agreed to take things easy until the city limits is reached and then they will cut out a pace that should greatly exceed a mile-a-minute.

The Pope-Hartford, with W. D. Tremaine, starts second and will be sent away at 10:50 o'clock. At five-minute intervals the other drivers will be given the word. The Franklin will follow the Pope and the Stoddard-Dayton will be the next to leave.

At the Mexican line, in Calexico, some interesting stunts are expected. Passports must be secured before the cars are allowed to proceed over the line. Again at Andrade the passports must be surrendered. This means time and trouble. The first night stop is at Yuma. The first car should reach Phoenix Monday afternoon.

The Southern Pacific Golden State Limited will leave at 9:45 o'clock tomorrow morning for Phoenix. Allan Dodd, traffic and freight manager, will be in charge and has promised to give the tourists complete details of the race and the position of each car. The "special" is a dandy. The largest crowd that ever attended the big road battle will leave tomorrow morning. Dodd is well acquainted with the automobile dealers and will keep his train on a schedule that will allow time for a banquet at Yuma tomorrow night.

At the end of the first half the score stood 37 to 2 in favor of the Methodists after a whirlwind session. Line-up: U.S.C. forwards, McCowan, Starnes, B. Hall, Landen, Spencer, Taylor; center, Slater; Rutledge; guards, Coogrove, Hubbard; E. Kenler; Time of halves, 20m.; referee, W. B. Berry.

JUDGE CONREY ARRESTED.

Watchman For Portland Cement Company Pulls Judge Into Court On a Charge of Trespass.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) SAN BERNARDINO, Nov. 3.—Judge Conrey of the Los Angeles Superior Court was arrested today and held before the officers of the California-Portland Cement Company, on a charge of trespass. The judge thought it was a good joke.

Judge Conrey and a party of friends were on a jaunt in the Stover range, near Colton, seeking a point of vantage where they could view the Santa Ana River, which at present, is concerned in a big water suit of Santa Ana interests against local water users.

A watchman for the cement company saw the party and promptly placed the judge under arrest. Explanations as to Conrey's identity only served to arouse the ire of the faithful servant, possibly because his company was recently dealt a rather severe blow by the courts, in the cement dust case, and he refused all appeals, and insisted that the judge accompany him to the company office.

Profuse apologies were forthcoming by the officials, much to the discouragement of the watchman, and to the glee of the members of Judge Conrey's party.

To Newspaper Men. The Committee of Arrangements for the reception of Aviator Rodgers at Pasadena have invited visiting newspaper men in attendance at the McCormack trial in Los Angeles to be their guests at the reception and at a luncheon at Hotel Maryland at 1 o'clock p.m.

NEWS REPORTS FROM CORRESPONDENTS OF THE TIMES.

Pasadena.

BIRDMAN WILL ARRIVE TODAY.

Calbraith Rodgers to Land in Crown City.

First to Cross Continent on an Aeroplane.

Boy Seriously Injured by an Automobile Accident.

(Times of the Times) 12 S. Fair Oaks Ave. PASADENA, Nov. 4.—Calbraith P. Rodgers, the aviator who today is to conclude his transcontinental flight, is due to arrive at Tournament Park at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

"There is no doubt that he will land at the appointed time unless he meets with an accident, and that is not now probable," said L. Peters, one of his assistants, who himself reached the city yesterday.

The birdman alighted at Imperial Junction last evening and telephoned to D. M. Linard, of the Hotel Maryland, who has made arrangements for the landing, that he will leave there at daybreak this morning.

"Mr. Rodgers expects to make one landing on the way," said Peters. "He will come to ground about forty miles out of Pasadena, examine his engine and see that all is in perfect order, so as not to disappoint those who go to the park to see him. His aeroplane is running better than it has at any stage of the journey."

A large crowd is expected from Los Angeles today. The Southern Pacific Railroad will run trains directly to Tournament Park.

Rodgers will not fly across the city, he states, although he has announced that he will be here for several days, and that it is possible he may undertake some exhibition flying later. He wired the following dispatch to Linard last night:

"I will be in Pasadena on schedule time tomorrow afternoon unless some unexpected accident occurs. Tell the people of Pasadena that I have always wanted to see their famous city and I am going to gratify my wish tomorrow. More than that, I am going to go into it from the East, through the air. That is something that has never been done before. My trip thus far has been a distinct success, and I hope to repay every one who comes out tomorrow to see me land. Pasadena is claiming much of my attention just now, for if my plans carry, I intend to establish an aeroplane factory there and make the Rodgers aeroplane. I have learned much aircraft on my long trip, and its result will be apparent in the machine I build."

"CALBRAITH P. RODGERS."

AUTO STRIKES CHILD.
Robert Easton, 11-year-old son of L. B. Easton, who lives at No. 540 South Marengo avenue, was run over and seriously injured at 7 o'clock last night by the automobile of Elmer Mondy, of No. 648 Arroyo Drive. The car was driven by M. J. Gannon, Mrs. Moody and Miss Etta Readman were seated in the tonneau.

The accident occurred at the corner of East Colorado street and Marengo avenue. Gannon was driving west on Colorado, he declares, at a rate not in excess of ten miles an hour, when he ran into the boy, who was astride a bicycle. The lad was knocked from the wheel and fell directly in the path of the heavy car.

When the automobile was brought to a standstill the wheel was upon the child's abdomen. He was taken to the Receiving Hospital, and later removed to the Pasadena Hospital. It was announced there last night that he will recover.

TALK OF PLAYGROUNDS.

The youngsters were of chief consideration in the city yesterday. More than a hundred delegates to the California Playground and Recreation Institute, in session in Los Angeles, visited Pasadena today in the afternoon to see Carmelita Playground.

The occasion was one for a large gathering at the playground and there were not only addresses, but drills and other gymnastic entertainments had a place on the programme.

E. B. DeGroot, of Chicago, vice-president of the American Playground Association, who was the principal speaker, was favorably impressed by the Pasadena children's recreation center. He believes that the public playground is fast becoming an absolute necessity if the children of today are to grow into healthy, moral and energetic men and women.

In his address he said in part: "There are many people who have a notion that things are going wrong with the child, that it is no longer as it once was. And this is true. The children have been left out of consideration in many aspects."

"The principal features that form the homely virtues of child-rearing have been omitted."

"It all goes back to the fundamental thing, that the child shall have good health to carry through conceptions of the mind and big things. The child cannot secure this strength under modern conditions, unless special opportunities are offered. Instead of a home, the modern apartment is like a penitentiary box, one upon another."

Parents say: "Let us go to a suburban town where the janitor does not reside. What happens? They find a certain standard has been set as regards keeping up the yards. There is a constant nagging of the children. Mothers and fathers find themselves isolated."

"There is now no time for the father to spend with his boys. The old things that the father did for his son are all climaxed. The boys run on the street and live for them, even in the suburban towns, is not conducive of good citizenship."

"It is much the same with girls. The mother and her daughter are not working together. Recreation is purchased, and 10 cents' worth at a time. This does not make for health and good citizenship."

Here you have offered the children more opportunity for play. I hope the people of this section will continue to support this playground, and that playgrounds will be constructed in other communities where they do not now exist."

There was a large audience present, principally women. DeGroot was much applauded. He was introduced by L. J. C. Brainerd, presi-

Aviator Calbraith P. Rodgers.

Who will arrive in Pasadena today, after the most wonderful flight ever achieved by an aeroplane. He will end a cross-continent trip on the Hotel Maryland grounds.

IS BRILLIANT AFFAIR.

The first fall luncheon of the Pasadena Board of Trade, held yesterday noon at the Maryland Hotel, was a large and representative gathering of business and professional men of the city. Over 200 were present.

The speakers dwelt upon much that has to do with the coming winter and the problems in public life that it will bring.

E. B. DeGroot, the playground enthusiast, was a guest of honor and likewise had a part on the programme. He told those present much that convinced them of the need of playgrounds throughout the country.

Some of the most interesting statements came from Rev. Robert Freeman, pastor of the Pasadena Presbyterian Church, who also spoke. He is likewise chairman of the City Temperance Commission, before which the proposed new liquor ordinance is now up.

Rev. Freeman made three points which brought much applause. First, he said that the liquor problem could not be satisfactorily solved by ordinances alone. That it is more of a social question than one of legislation, was his stand. He said he believed the public schools should be thrown open evenings for such use as the parents of the children and others might desire to make of them as places of meeting and recreation.

His third contention was for a universal Saturday half-holiday.

CITY BRIEFS.

Rev. Alan R. Tillinghast, pastor of the First Universalist Church, tomorrow night will begin a series of lectures at the church which are to continue Sunday evenings, until the middle of next month. The subjects, in the order in which they will occur, the 10th, 12th, 15th and 26th inst., are: "America's Greatest Secret," "The Kingdom of Our Golden River," "Robert Louis Stevenson, Pioneer Health Man," "Ralph Waldo Emerson, America's Greatest Secrecy Prophet," "Walt Whitman, Bard of Brotherhood," "Robert Browning, Guide to Optimism," and "Leo Tolstoy, the Northern Light."

Although no meeting has been held as yet, local horsemen have decided to hold another horse show next March. A conference will probably be held soon, at which time arrangements will be made.

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 3.—The funeral of Mrs. Hannah Reeves was held today from her residence, No. 1101 Forrest avenue, after an illness of two years. Mrs. Reeves was one of the pioneers of Hollywood, coming here with her husband, eight years ago, when Mr. Reeves died a short time afterwards, being the first person to be buried in the Hollywood Cemetery.

UNCONQUERABLE DESIRE TO DIE.

Long Beach Woman Finally Takes the Journey.

Rich, Cultured and Handsome, but Life Palled.

Ex-Prize Fighter Arrested for Robbing Hotels.

LONG BEACH, Nov. 3.—The filing of the burial permit of Mrs. Gertrude E. Conkle today brought to light the fact that death was due to a dose of cyanide of potassium taken with suicidal intent on Tuesday morning at the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. W. S. Kale on Linden avenue. No report of the death was given out until today, when it became necessary for the attending physician to sign the death certificate in order that a burial permit might be issued.

The suicide was the culmination of a mania for self-destruction which had beset Mrs. Conkle for many years. Handsome, cultured and wealthy, she was sane in every respect except the unquenchable desire to kill herself, and several attempts previously made were thwarted only by the watchful care of relatives. Mrs. Conkle, who was 35 years of age, was the wife of C. C. Conkle, a wealthy railroad man of Seattle. Because of her health Mrs. Conkle has for the past two years made her home in Long Beach, and her daughter, Miss Edith, is attending the Polytechnic High School.

Monday night Mrs. Conkle attended a house party given by her sister-in-law, and was noticed to be unusually high spirits, due, it is now thought, to the fact that she had in some way secured possession of the cyanide and was happy in the consciousness that she could die any time she wished. Tuesday morning when aroused for breakfast, she arose with a smile and said she felt better. Her condition was discovered at once and a physician was called, but the unfortunate woman died as he reached the bedside.

Because there is no question of the cause of death, no inquest was held. Mr. Conkle, the bereaved husband, arrived this morning from Seattle, where funeral services will be held privately tomorrow. Mrs. Conkle was a native of Kansas.

CATCHING WITH THE GOODS.

Oscar Ray, an ex-prize-fighter, was arrested today at the request of the management of the Hotel Virginia, and when searched, $35 and considerable jewelry was found on his person. Ray confessed to having taken the plunder from seven rooms of the hotel.

In the capture of Ray the police believe they have the man who has been perpetrating hotel and apartment-house robberies in Los Angeles for several months. Ray is 32 years old and was formerly house man at the Virginia.

JURY SECURED.

With only five men left out of a venire of seventy, a jury was finally secured today in the case of Manager Carl Stanley of Hotel Virginia, charged with a violation of the liquor ordinance, and further hearing postponed until Monday morning. The defense and prosecution exercised thirteen of the fifteen challenges allowed them.

WORK STOPPED.

Fifty workmen of the Pacific Electric were stopped today by the city officials from tearing up the rails of the road on East Second street. The line has been abandoned, but the road officials were notified that they would not be allowed to tear up Second street until repairs had been completed on Pine and East First and Railroad streets, where a similar tearing up had occurred, and agreed to this order. The road foreman was notified that arrests would follow any further attempt to prosecute the work before the designated repairs had been made.

LOANED PANTS TO LADY.

J. O. Shinn this morning reported to the police that a pair of Sunday trousers was missing from his home and a policeman was sent to the store. While investigating, a son of Mr. Shinn came in and explained the mystery by saying he had loaned the pants to a young lady friend to attend a Halloween party and had neglected to mention the fact to his parents.

HOLD PIE SALE.

The senior class girls of the Polytechnic High School celebrated the near completion of the school cafeteria today by holding a pie sale, each girl furnishing a pie guaranteed to have been baked by her own fair hands. The sale realized $24. at 5 cents per cut, except the last pie, which was auctioned off for $2. This sale will remove a deficiency in class funds existing from last year.

NEWS BRIEFS.

Rev. Henry Kendall Booth, pastor of the First Congregational Church, will celebrate on Sunday the tenth anniversary of his ordination and in his morning service will tell of his ten years in the ministry. He was ordained on Michigan City, Ind., in 1901 and later filled pulpits in Tucson, Sacramento and Berkeley, coming here two years ago from the latter place.

L. J. Snowden, a conductor on the Redondo-avenue line, wrapped the trolley rope around his hand while the car was back-switching, the trolley slipped off and the jerk broke two of his fingers, which will incapacitate him from duty for a month.

Arrangements were made today for the local Kansas Society to become a part of the State Federation of the Kansas Societies. The necessary papers and fees were sent in today by Secretary Meehan.

The Edison Electric Company today concluded a deal with the Douglas Investment Company, purchasing a tier of twenty-five lots for a portion of a right of way they require for a power line between their plant on the inner harbor and Los Angeles. Under this deal they secure a right of way 150 feet wide, extending northward through the tract and directly in line with the power plant. The consideration was $10,500.

The steamer Inagua came into the inner harbor today and is discharging 250,000 feet of redwood lumber at the city docks. The schooner Winslow went on the Craig dry dock today and on Friday the four-master Salem will go on for repairs.

SAN BERNARDINO, Nov. 3.—There is a law which will bring a suit for the county the state to recover $300,000 this county loss by reason of the Board of Supervisors' decision to pay the $300,000 to the Board of Supervisors. This is against the financial crisis which this county is facing as a result of the tax.

The basis for such a suit, it is claimed, will be in the provisions of the amendment, which says: "Until the Board of Supervisors shall have received a report from the Board of Equalization this county shall be deemed to be in default of its obligation to pay the tax."

The value of railroad property in this county assessed by the Board of Equalization this year is a report just received.

APPALLED BY DIVORCE EVIL.San Diego Conference Devolve the Imperial Valley.Lyman J. Gage Pleads for His Chinese Servant.

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 3.—"Appalling" was the word used by delegates of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, conference tonight in characterizing the figures given to that body yesterday by Francis H. Moody, secretary of the Marriage and Divorce Committee.

The report was the general theme of discussion throughout the sessions today. This evening was devoted to another address on mission work in China, which was delivered by Dr. C. F. Reid, who spent three years in that country. Delegates declared his address tonight the most entertaining feature of the conference thus far. Tomorrow several of the delegates, who are delegates to the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, will be heard in local pulpits, and Bishop Waterhouse will officiate at the dedication of the new church of the Southern Methodist church of this city.

BOOSTER SPECIAL.

Headed by John F. Forward, Jr., president of the San Diego Chamber of Commerce, 150 San Diego boosters left at 8 o'clock tonight on the first special train of the season for the Imperial Valley, during which time D. C. Collier will join the party and all will boost for San Diego and the exposition.

The special train of nine cars was late in arriving. It was intended that the train should leave here this morning, but at noon the arrival time was given as 3 o'clock.

Two of the largest diners in service are a part of this train. The whole equipment is the finest the Santa Fe could get together. It is under the personal direction of F. J. Herr, assistant to General Passenger Agent J. J. Byrne of the Santa Fe, who will accompany the train around the circuit.

The itinerary takes the party first to the Grand Canyon, where it will arrive Saturday night. Col. Collier will join the party here. Sunday will be devoted to a trip down the Bright Angel trail to the Colorado River, with entertainment at the El Tovar Hotel, on the rim of the canyon. Monday evening will be spent in Prescott, where an entertainment has been arranged. The train will arrive at Phoenix Monday morning and for two days and nights there will be one continuous round of entertainment and pleasure.

GAGE'S SCHAUFFER FINED.

This is the story of Tan Moke, late of China. It is a story of his great love for tea and of his terrific experience with a San Diego policeman. It is also a story of how Lyman J. Gage, former secretary of the United States Treasury, appeared in Police Court for the first time in his life.

But Gage was not under arrest, far from it. He appeared on behalf of the fellow man from the land of Cathay. Gage employs Tan Moke in the capacity of a chauffeur and it was in the performance of this service that the frightened Moke fell into the clutches of the law.

Moke stopped at a house occupied by a friend. He left the Gage automobile outside and failed to pull his spark plug. This is against the law. The traffic ordinance requires that the engine must be shut off before a machine is left alone.

Tan Moke didn't intend to stop long.

AGED SQUAW DANCED FIVE HOURS WITHOUT A STOP.

SAN BERNARDINO, Nov. 3.—The Banning Indians have just completed their annual memorial service for the dead. Weiridly fantastic, these exercises have attracted hundreds of curious whites, who have had occasion to marvel at the endurance of the aged squaws in the performance of the strange rites involved in the observance.

One squaw, who was well toward seventy years old, whirled and danced for five hours without a pause. Before her shrill cry gave token that she was about to bring her dance of death to a close, forty bronzed figures joined in the dance, and as she fell all prostrated themselves, pouring dust by the handful over their heads.

The observance opened with a dance in which all the Indians joined in forming a circle. All night long they circled and swayed, uttering guttural sound during the dance.

One leader, by chanting, told the story of the creation, as the Indians understand it. The rites closed with the burning of cloth dolls, to represent the bodies of the dead. The reason for this is that a profound secret by the red men.

SAN BERNARDINO, Nov. 3.—If there is a law which can be executed, Dist. Atty. R. B. Goodell will bring a suit for the county against the State to recover $200,000, which the county loses by reason of the operation of Amendment No. 1. The problem has been put up to the Board of Supervisors, who realize the magnitude of the financial crisis which this county is facing as a result of the tax amendment.

The basis for such a suit, if an action can be maintained, will be found in the provisions of the amendment itself, which says: "Until the year 1912 the State shall reimburse San Bernardino county for the net loss in county revenue occasioned by the withdrawal of railroad property from county taxation."

The value of railroad property in San Bernardino county for the year ending in 1910 was $2,000,000. The State of Equalization for this year, according to a report just issued by USHOP, Nov. 3.—The contest for the position of queen of the harvest festival closed with over 21,000 votes in favor of Miss Mabel Schoeber.

The festival opened this morning. At 10 o'clock there was a union praise service at the Opera House, presided over by Rev. William Rowan. The clergymen participating were: Revs.

The Opera House was elaborately decorated with carnival colors, red, yellow and green, used as a background for the varied fruits of the harvest. This evening a costume dance was held, opened by Queen Mabel and her favored suitor. She was attended by a retinue of young people.

At 2 o'clock this afternoon the big parade started from the Hotel Italia and marched on North and South Main street. The judges' stand was erected at Main and Line streets and here took place the coronation ceremony. The Queen's float was a bower of aquamarine fern and grapes. At her feet were piled great red apples, big yellow pumpkins and other local products.

Tomorrow will be held a free barbecue at noon. In the morning there will be a baseball game between Bishop and the Platte Indians, most of whom are Caribbean boys.

There is an exhibit of produce in Exhibition Hall and a poultry show, for which nearly seventy-five entries have been made.

OF AMENDMENT ONE.

SAN BERNARDINO, Nov. 3.—If there is a law which can be executed, Dist. Atty. R. B. Goodell will bring a suit for the county against the State to recover $200,000, which the county loses by reason of the operation of Amendment No. 1. The problem has been put up to the Board of Supervisors, who realize the magnitude of the financial crisis which this county is facing as a result of the tax amendment.

The basis for such a suit, if an action can be maintained, will be found in the provisions of the amendment itself, which says: "Until the year 1912 the State shall reimburse San Bernardino county for the net loss in county revenue occasioned by the withdrawal of railroad property from county taxation."

The value of railroad property in San Bernardino county for the year ending in 1910 was $2,000,000. The State of Equalization for this year, according to a report just issued by

State Controller Nye, is $14,332,288. Experts for the Board of Supervisors estimate that the very lowest possible figure for the net loss to the county through Amendment No. 1, is $153,000, while if all property, including railroads, could be taxed at the $2 rate, even after paying State taxes it would leave the county treasury about $226,000 more than it will have.

The amendment says that the county shall be reimbursed. It also says the section is self-executing, which is taken to mean that some official has the authority to figure the net loss and pay it over. This view raises the question as to whether the Legislature has the right to figure the loss or to pass a bill arbitrarily appropriating $226,000 per annum, when no one knew at the time what the county's loss would be.

Today Jeff McElvaine and two other members of the State Board of Equalization were here and for some time discussed the amendment with Dist. Atty. Goodell. They left tonight to look over railroad property on the desert.

LIGHTNING
CAUSES FIRE.Salt Lake Station Destroyed
by a Flash.Telegraph Operator Is Saved With Great Difficulty.Mexico Insists on Retrial of Alleged Murderer.

SAN BERNARDINO, Nov. 3.—Lightning played havoc with the Salt Lake pumping station, operating room and oil department at Lyon, on the desert, and but for the timely arrival of a westbound overland train, the station and the upper floor would have perished in the flames which the forked lightning originated.

Lane was seated in his office over the pumping station when the lightning flashed from the sky. At that moment the westbound overland came around a curve. The engineer, a mile away, saw the bolt, saw the flames shoot from the big plant, and throwing on additional speed, the big train fairly leaped the mile gap between the curve and the plant and stopped with a jerk.

Dashing from the cab and train the crew rushed up the flight of stairs into the telegraph room, and there found the operator prostrate on the floor, unconscious. He was quickly hurried from danger, and none too soon, for, as the trainmen leaped down the burning stairway, the stairs tumbled in, and the upper floor came down with a crash.

Crew and passengers turned in to save the oil-house, which they succeeded in doing, after a hard fight. That same night the trainmen witnessed many fire balls bowling along the steel rails, and during the night some of the magnetic peaks of the mountains seemed in a seething flame.

MEXICO'S DEMAND.

Because the Mexican government insists upon prosecuting, George Adams, Santa Fe section foreman, will be placed on trial next Tuesday in the Superior Court to answer for the death of a Mexican section hand. The deceased attacked Adams, who defended himself by striking the Mexican over the head with a shovel.

The latter walked to the bunk car and died suddenly that evening, twelve hours after the attack. Adams was exonerated by the coroner's jury. Dist. Atty. R. B. Goodell laid the evidence before the Mexican Consul, with a request that he be allowed to discontinue the action against Adams. The Consul refused the request to his government, and today came back a refusal. Should the case be dismissed the Mexican government would not appeal to the Department of State at Washington, and make an international affair of the homicide.

PLANT TREES.

Three cedar trees were planted on top of Perris Hill today, President A. G. Kendall, and Water Commissioners F. T. Perris and M. D. Katz, each setting out a tree. This is the opening of plans to make the hill an attractive snow place. Early in the spring work will be commenced on the new reservoir, which is to adorn the top of the mountain. The water commissioners have directed George M. Cooley to plant a thirty-acre tract at Perris Hill to potatoes. Cooley has made a mark as prince among sprud ratters in the valley. The income from the sale of the potatoes will go toward improving the water service.

BIG CHECK TURNS UP.

Man Trying to Sell Paper to Pawnbroker Is Arrested for Looting the Mails.

By arresting H. Spinoso, yesterday afternoon, when he was attempting to sell a check for $115.15 to a pawnbroker on Main street, Patrolman McCarron perhaps unearthed a clever looting of U. S. mail at Santa Ana. Spinoso is being held to await investigation.

The check was drawn for E. A. May, a Santa Ana orange grower, last Saturday by J. A. Maag, president of the Santiago Orange Growers' Association. It was mailed the following day by W. M. Smart, secretary of the association.

Not until The Times made inquiry at Santa Ana last night did any of the three know the check was missing. Smart told of mailing the check. He said he had been expecting it, this week, but felt no uneasiness because of its non-appearance.

How the check came into Spinoso's hands may be learned from him. He refused to tell how he got it last night, claiming it was his own. It is thought some one took it from Maag's mailbox Monday.

May lives on a rural mail route between Santa Ana and Tustin. The mail box is about forty yards from the house and hidden from view so that one might approach it without being observed.

May was unable to identify Spinoso. He employs a number of Mexicans but none of that name. That the looting was done by some one who knew the contents of the letter which held the check is, though probable. The case will likely be taken up by the postal authorities.

CARELESS ACT.

Iron Moulder Goes Looking for Gas Leads With Lighted Candle and Is Seriously Burned.

Joseph Zickus, a moulder employed at the Llewellyn Iron Works, had a narrow escape from burning to death last night when he entered the basement of his home at No. 120 Beaudry street, with a lighted candle to look for a gas leak. Zickus had no sooner entered the basement than the lighted candle ignited the gas. In the explosion which followed the iron moulder was thrown to the floor, and before he could make his exit he was seriously burned about the face and hands. He was taken to the Receiving Hospital.

People living in the neighborhood formed themselves into a fire brigade and extinguished the fire before the arrival of the fire department. There was little if any damage to the house.

PEKING, Nov. 3.—The action of Prince Chun, the regent of the Chinese empire, in accepting today on behalf of the throne, the draft of the basis of a new Constitution, is considered to show his willingness to grant any demand of the people that is supported by arms.

"The country has gone mad," said a prominent diplomat to the Associated Press today, "and only a strong dictator will save it. Well wishers of China hope to see a man in office who can dictate, namely, Chang Shao Theng."

Two days ago a train brought to Peking an officer named Lu as the emissary of Gen. Chang Shao Theng, who commands five thousand modern troops at Lanchow. Lu was accompanied by an escort of 200 cavalrymen. The government at first considered opposing by force the memorial conveyed by Lu, which demanded that twelve demands should be granted. One of these demands provided that the army should participate in a constitutional government.

Both the Assembly and the throne complied, and Lu and his colleagues remain in Peking, forming a military league to check the rebels at Hankow and along the Tai Yuan Pu Railway, although in the latter region of the imperial troops have refused to engage the Shunt rebels.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 4.—James Dwyer was shot through the throat and fatally wounded last night when he and Louis Murphy tried to hold up Policemen James O'Donnell and T. W. Maloney on Battery street. The officers were in plain clothes when the highwaymen confronted them. At the command, "Hands up!" Maloney drew his revolver and sent a bullet through Dwyer's neck, while O'Donnell knocked Murphy down with the butt of his pistol. It was stated at the hospital that Dwyer could not live through the night. Almost at the same time a highwayman entered the saloon of F. J. Byers on Haight street and ordered the proprietor to throw up his hands. Byers already had grasped his revolver and the robber shot him through the thigh as soon as he saw the weapon, then made his escape. Byers' condition is critical.

PACKING-HOUSE BURNED.

SAN JOSE, Nov. 4.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] The H. E. Loose packing-house, one of the largest establishments of the kind in this city, was destroyed by fire last night, together with not less than 600 tons of prunes and an unknown quantity of dried apricots and peaches. The owner, who lives in Sunnyvale, could not be reached last night, but other packers say the loss will total over $100,000 and that it is covered by insurance.

LOOTS A BANK.

GREAT FALLS (Mont.) Nov. 4.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] A lone robber relieved the Bank of Hedgcocks, Mont., 100 miles south of this place, of nearly $1000 late yesterday, and escaped. Joseph Dahl, the associate cashier, was the only person in the bank when the robber entered and, drawing a revolver, demanded all the money in sight. Dahl was a little slow in complying and the robber fired a shot over his head. Then Dahl pushed the cash through the wicket. With this, the robber rushed from the building, mounted his horse and rode away. Citizens, attracted by the shot in the bank, fired upon him, but without effect. Possee started in pursuit, but they found no trace of the robber.

TO EXHUME BODIES.

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Just what bodies would be exhumed in the case of the persons who died under Mrs. Vermilya's roof, Coroner Hoffman declines to say. It was intimated, however, that one of them would be that of Conductor Richard T. Smith, who was suddenly taken ill and died under strange circumstances. It developed he had taken out a life insurance policy a short time before, in which he was to be the beneficiary. Mrs. Vermilya collapsed when informed the experts had found poison in the viscera of Policeman Blaissonette, but she showed no concern after recovering, and declined to make any statement.

When first examined after Blaissonette's death, Mrs. Vermilya declared the policeman was engaged to marry her. This was disproved by the discovery later of his will, leaving all his property, amounting to about $1500, to his fiancée, Miss Laura Rivard of Minnesota.

Mrs. Vermilya finally was taken ill, suffering from convulsions, and appeared to be in almost the same condition that had marked both Smith and Blaissonette before they died.

Reports received by the police from Peoria, Ill., where Mrs. Vermilya formerly lived, indicated that bodies had possessed a morbid fascination for her and that she had attached herself to an undertaking establishment there and spent most of her leisure aiding the employees.

This was further established by the discovery of friendship for an undertaker here, C. C. Boyson, whose name was brought into the present investigation through his having acted in the funerals of Smith and Blaissonette.

EXAMINATIONS.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] An investigation is being made by a board of officers of the blowing off on October 27 of the muzzle of a three-inch 50-caliber gun aboard the United States torpedo boat destroyer Preble. Lieutenant-Commander Louis C. Richardson, commander of the Pacific torpedo fleet, so advised the Navy Department yesterday. No casualties attended the accident and the vessel itself escaped damage. The details are not yet clear.

HURLED THROUGH SPACE.

O. L. Gilpin, a motorcycle speed officer, in company with Officer Frank Harlan, going west on Sixth street, in pursuit of an auto, collided with another at the corner of Park View and Sixth street while going at the rate of forty-five miles an hour.

Gilpin's machine was utterly demolished, as though by a miracle, the rider escaped.

Actor in Search for Five-Dollar Gold Piece Falls Twenty Feet Into Basement.

His cries for help unheard by pedestrians, Art S. Belmont, an actor from Butte, Mont., lay imprisoned in the basement of the Union Oil Company's building at Seventh and Spring streets, with a broken left leg for nearly an hour last night. Belmont fell twenty feet to the bottom of the basement, in an effort to find a 55 gold piece which he had lost.

The actor was separating some change on the corner of Seventh and Spring streets, and dropped the gold piece, which rolled down a crack between the sidewalk and the edge of the new building. Unable to find the watchman, he entered the building and began a hunt for an aperture leading to the basement. In the darkness he stumbled through a hole in the incomplete flooring.

At first stunned by the fall, he was unable to call for help. It did not take him long to recover the use of his lungs, but his continuous cries went unheard until T. H. Rodgers, employee of a furniture store adjoining the new building, on Seventh street, heard him when he was about to look up for the night.

Patients who were in the last stages of tuberculosis can be seen at his office showing rapid improvement. Coughs, fever, night sweats, all disappear in a few days and patients grow stronger from the beginning. In the first and second stages home treatment is all that is required. Knowing how skeptical people are, Doctor Glass will give a trial treatment of one week free to demonstrate the merit of the remedy. Professor Kott, who discovered the bacilli of tuberculosis, says the germ is inhaled into the lungs. ## FROM DISGRACE TO HIGH PLACE.

Gin Wut Wah, Reviled In-former, Now a General.

Deported Under Fear of Death; to Be Leader.

Turned State's Evidence and Convicted Smugglers.

A fugitive and refugee from the calamity of socialism and labor-union rule was the one idea dominant at the first meeting which the Citizens' Committee of One Hundred held yesterday afternoon in Symphony Hall, Blanchard building.

The members of the committee were in session from 2 until 5 o'clock discussing plans for a campaign of force and effect. The meeting was called to order by William M. Garland, who made a ringing appeal to all factions to organize a solid front against the enemy in the face of the municipality's present crisis.

Others who spoke in this tenor with conviction were E. A. Meserve, Albert M. Stephens, George N. Black, Phil A. Stanton, R. H. Norton and R. X. Bull.

Every one of them declared in favor of a whirlwind campaign to be made by a powerful fighting force of active men. Each said that in this campaign politics are no longer a consideration in the face of the disaster with which the city is threatened.

The organization placed itself upon a working basis by electing Bradner W. Lee president, and J. J. Petermichel secretary. Lee, an exceedingly busy man, at first demurred, but the committee insisted on his acceptance as a matter of duty. He replied that when put in that light he was compelled to yield.

"I regard the crisis," he said, "as sufficiently grave to justify any personal sacrifice if the city can be saved. You tell me that you will back me with your energy and your means. We will have need of men and of some funds. We are not politicians, but we are in this fight on the highest patriotic grounds and believe in the motives which have brought you here. I see on this committee men who have not previously been favorable to Mayor Alexander and men who are in no manner associated with the Good Government organization. Your presence precludes any question of the spirit of this committee. It was to give the city the benefit of your unselfish service and of your fine capacity for doing things that the Los Angeles Realty Board inaugurated this movement at its luncheon at the Westminster Hotel yesterday."

"You fellows are in the habit of doing things, and if ever you worked hard for a good cause, now is your chance to do business. When a committee like this puts its shoulder to the wheel something will be moving. For the next seven days I hope every one of you will make the election of Bradner W. Lee president."

Though Wah was the object of the bitterest resentment and most violent and blood-curdling threats of sudden death because of his turning informer against his countrymen, the information of his elevation to a place of honor among the rebels was received without surprise in Chinatown yesterday, for it was already known that he stood high in the councils of Chung Hwa. When he was taken into custody in Calexico just a year ago on the smuggling charge, long letters setting

Gin Wut Wah,

The Chinese who disgraced himself in the eyes of his countrymen by supplying the evidence which broke up the coolie-smuggling ring and who was later himself deported as a contraband. By a strange freak of fortune he has been made a commander of the rebel forces in China, a post which carries honors and distinction.

forth the high esteem in which he is held were found among his effects. During his six months' imprisonment and up till the day of his deportation on the steamer China, October 11, he continued to receive these testimonials of regard from the rebel leaders.

Gin Wut Wah is locally regarded as one of the most remarkable Chinese with whom the authorities have ever had to deal; and this quite aside from his having been the first Celestial ever known to have delivered his countrymen into the hands of the "foreign devils" through voluntary testimony against them. He is only 21 years old, well educated, speaks excellent English and was a hard student of history and economics.

His ideals were those of the Occident and, while seemingly an inconsequential dreamer, he frequently surprised his listeners with flashes of American enthusiasm and energy. He often expressed his hope to live to see China take a place among the world powers, and a year ago, foretold in accuracy and detail the present uprising. Aside from the fact that he was practically a fugitive in fear of his life from avenging fellow-countrymen, he was anxious to be deported for fear, he said, that he would not reach his native land in time to take part in the uprising.

He pleaded guilty to the charge of smuggling contraband Chinese across the line from Mexico and, while serving his sentence in jail, volunteered to supply the information necessary to convict the alleged heads of the smuggling ring, which had operated with impunity for a time indefinite in the coolie trade. On his evidence Ne Fun and Wong Wing Hing were convicted and the ring broken up. The former is now serving a two-year sentence on McNelly's Island. Wong Wing Hing is at Liberty on $2500 bond awaiting the action of the District Court of Appeals.

MAN AND MONEY GONE.
When Charles Mesich, who stays at Hotel Chapman, awoke yesterday morning, he learned that his room-mate, John D. Plister, and his watch and $120 were missing. He stated at police headquarters that he placed his money and watch under his pillow before he went to sleep Thursday night. Detectives are investigating the case.

Bradner W. Lee,

President of the Citizens' Committee of One Hundred which will fight to save Los Angeles from the calamity of a socialistic administration. He is selecting a committee of twenty-five business men to handle the campaign.

For City's Honor.

TO MEET GREAT CRISIS WITH A SOLID FRONT.

Citizens' Committee of One Hundred Elects Bradner W. Lee President and Strong Campaign Working Body Is in the Making—Business Men Take Hold as a Matter of Duty—"Old Guard" in Line.

TO SAVE Los Angeles from the calamity of socialism and labor-union rule was the one idea dominant at the first meeting which the Citizens' Committee of One Hundred held yesterday afternoon in Symphony Hall, Blanchard building.

The members of the committee were in session from 2 until 5 o'clock discussing plans for a campaign of force and effect. The meeting was called to order by William M. When a committee like this puts its shoulder to the wheel something will be moving. For the next seven days I hope every one of you will make the election of Bradner W. Lee president."

George Alexander, and the men who are nominated with him, the first business of your lives.

"Let us see to it that the people at large understand the tremendous issue of this campaign, and let me know for a fact that every man and woman in this city who is eligible to vote qualifies to do so, and pledges us that they will not contribute to the stay-at-home multitude of the past."

The issue is simply business against abuse, and we must see to it that business wins."

Lee was given full power to appoint a committee of twenty-five men to handle the details of the larger committee's campaign. He intends to make this committee one of the finest working bodies ever brought together in Los Angeles, and when it is announced it will doubtless contain many surprises. He worked upon his personnel nearly all last night, and hopes to have it ready by 6 o'clock this morning.

It placed registration booths at Bullock's, Hamburgers', the Lankershim, Weaver-Jackson's, the Paris, the Broadway, Jacoby's, the New York, the Fifth Street Store, the Boston, Coulter's and in the H. W. Hellman building, Security Savings Bank and the Night and Day Bank.

Mrs. H. J. Martin was placed by the league in charge of the registration of church congregations, and she made the unusual arrangement for many registrations in church vestries before the after prayer meeting for next Wednesday night. These registrations will take place at the Westminster Hotel.

All who come, day or night, will be accommodated.

TWELFTH MAN'S SEAT IS EMPTY.

Only Eleven Tentative Jurors Chosen So Far.

McNamara Case Drags Slowly Along.

Talesman Is Saved by Watch and Phonograph.

Contrary to general expectation, the jury box in the McNamara case was not filled yesterday, consequently no peremptory challenges were exercised. Eleven temporary jurors have been chosen, Byron Lisk of Pasadena being quickly accepted by both sides yesterday morning. W. H. Andrews, No. 126 Avenue 57, was under examination at the afternoon adjournment. He is strongly opposed to union-labor methods, and irritated Clarence Darrow by his staid replies. He is challenged by the defense, but the District Attorney has not completed his interrogation.

The fourth venire to be drawn thus far in the McNamara case will be present in Judge Bordwell's court this morning. The forty men composing it will have an opportunity to offer their excuses based upon physical disability, pressure of business or other causes that may be settled by the court offhand. The trial will not be resumed until Monday.

Attorneys for the defense are loath to have Saturday morning hearings. They state that they wish to devote the last day of the week to private business. Dist. Atty. Fredericks, however, is in favor of holding sessions Saturday morning in order to save the county as much extra expense as possible, and to expedite the present case.

Judge Bordwell has not indicated what course he will pursue.

The members of the new venire remaining after today's batch of examination will report for duty Monday morning. Andrews, now under examination, is the last of the third venire. The first drawing was 135 men, the second, third and fourth, forty men each. There are about 900 available names still remaining in the big county jury "wheel," or drum.

Yesterday morning two of the temporary jurors, G. W. McKee and F. D. Green, were somewhat indisposed. They suffered from colds during the night previous, and Bailiff Henry summoned a doctor to attend them. Few of the men drawn thus far have found the quarters in the Hall of Records much to their liking as their own beds at home.

SAVED BY A PHONOGRAPH.
Most of yesterday's session was devoted to the examination of H. V. Blenkiron, No. 567 Wildemere avenue. The defense was favorable to him, but the prosecution labored for some time in an effort to get him disqualified. Finally the talesman admitted his aversion to circumstantial evidence and was excused. Curiously enough, his possession of a watch and a phonograph of doubtful value alone saved him from being challenged on the ground that he did not come within the provisions of the property qualification. After he had told about the personal belongings upon which he is assessed, it looked as though the prosecution would have to exercise one of its peremptory challenges. But the talesman showed too much uncertainty about accepting circumstantial evidence.

At the morning session Byron Lisk, a Pasadena business man, was quickly passed by the defense and the prosecution. On the previous day it developed that he had formed no fixed opinions about the case, and had no prejudice against labor unions. Lisk is a man slightly over 40 years, but hale and hearty, and is intelligent and a close observer. The prosecution did not occupy more than two minutes in his examination. Lisk has frequently sat upon criminal cases in this county.

The rest of the morning was consumed in questioning H. V. Blenkiron, a local real estate man. In reply to questions put to him by the defense, the talesman said he had no prejudice against unions, and knew little about them. He read about the explosion, and afterward read about the various steps taken to fix the cause of the disaster and to apprehend the alleged criminals. He said he never formed any definite opinion as to how the explosion happened, and never had talked much about the case. He was named by the defense with surprising celerity.

Deputy Horton at once examined Blenkiron as to an affidavit he made when a case was pending against him some time ago. Horton told the court he had no wish to go into the details of the civil action, but that his questions were merely for the purpose of satisfying the State that the talesman answered the requisites of the law as to owning property.

It appeared that Blenkiron had filed an affidavit in connection with a complaint brought by his wife, to the effect that he had no property.

The defense made strong objections to the introduction of the affidavit upon the ground that his wife, in reading, might humiliate him in the eyes of the other jurors, and possibly subject him to other legal proceedings.

The District Attorney explained that the sole purpose of introducing the document was to fix the question of the talesman's property qualifications. If he did not own any property, it might imperil the case to have such a juror in the box. It was conceded that the man's name appeared upon the assessment roll, but there was doubt whether it was his own property or that of his wife.

Blenkiron said he claimed ownership to considerable furniture and other personal property in March of the present year. He said the furniture was purchased with his own money. After thoroughly going into the talesman's possible lack of property qualifications Deputy Horton veered to another important issue—the talesman's views as to capital punishment. The man's replies were conflicting.

CONFLICTING EVIDENCE.
He said at first that he believed in capital punishment in certain cases but was not in favor of the law.

"You have often debated the matter," he said.

STRIKE HITS A CHILD.

Bollemaker in Court for Refusal to Provide for His Family, Says He's Supported by Union.

Haled into the Juvenile Court yesterday, on a charge by the Humane Society, that he refused to provide for his family, making a dependent his 8-year-old son, James Coffey of No. 1848 Byron street, told Judge Wilbur he is a bollemaker, but gets only $7 a week. For this reason, he said, he could not give $10 toward the support of his boy.

"How is it you're only making $7 at your trade?" asked the court.

"I'm on a strike," said Coffey, "and the union gives me the $7."

"Your child will be sent to the Strickland Home, and you'll have to find a way to pay the $10 monthly for his support," said Judge Wilbur.

WOULD CUT AWAY EVIL TENDENCY.

BELIEVE COWBOY'S SALVATION LIES IN OPERATION.

Confessed Money Order Forger Will Submit to the Knife in the Hope of Being Freed of Criminal Propensities—Court and Prosecution Show Sympathy.

Deeds in the career of Charles Ross, confessed money-order forger, were paralleled yesterday by Deputy District Attorney Blair to those in the life of Chicago's notorious "Jack the Clipper," and may lead to a surgical operation to restore the defendant to good citizenship. It developed in the trial that a fracture of the skull sustained by Ross when he was a child may have thrown the prisoner into a strange thralldom.

Blair remarked on peculiarities attributed to Ross from the time he was a babe in arms. Judge McCormick held similar views and agreed with the prosecution and defense that a medical test might be the means of solving the defendant's criminal tendencies. Accordingly, the court sanctioned his examination by a reputed specialist. Ross readily acquiesced.

The defendant, a girl named Mabel Mays, and a young man named both of the latter now on probation, executed a fictitious express money order several months ago, and were apprehended trying to pass it on a Spring-street tailor.

When Ross, the last of the trio, appeared in the Superior Court yesterday for sentence, his life was spared from his birth. It was testified that he was taken in as a waif by Mrs. Mary Harper, and when 7 months old fell out of bed and fractured his skull. Infantile paralysis resulted, and he settled in his right leg. Mrs. Harper took the child to New York, and specialists saved his life, but the affected limb was permanently deformed.

From the time Ross was able to shift for himself, he began to fall into evil ways. Several character witnesses testified that he was easily influenced. Mrs. Harper, who came here from Connecticut for the trial, spent a large amount of money trying to educate her adopted son. He was finally sent to a private institution for backward children.

Mrs. E. Maude Allen, his instructor at that time, said that he was absolutely incapable of assimilating knowledge.

Ross then became a cowboy. Despite his deformity, he won an enviable reputation as a rider. One night he went on a spree with another cowboy. Ross ran out of funds, pawned his companion's saddle and was arrested. Since that time he has steadily run afoul of the law.

It was stated yesterday by Blair that Chicago's "Jack the Clipper," who had a mania for snipping women's hair off, was found to have a hollow place on his head where his skull was depressed on the brain, and that physicians discovered the injury was responsible for his conduct.

Judge McCormick said that he thought Ross's conduct was peculiar. He believes that is no place for the defendant if an operation can relieve him.

The result of the medical test will be made known in court on Monday morning.

MAY BRING HIM HERE.
The United States grand jury was in session yesterday and adjourned until Monday, when it is possible a partial report will be presented to the court. The government authorities are expecting that Dr. Grant Lyman will be brought here from San Francisco for a hearing on the charge of fraud in connection with the affairs of the Panama Development Company. If he is indicted here, the more serious offense will be up for disposal in this jurisdiction, and the indictment for conspiring to escape from an officer, under which he is now being held, can be cared for later on.

IMPORTANT PRECINCT CALL.
Women and men of Precinct No. 162 are urged to go to Easton Hall, Arlington and Sixteenth streets, this evening at 8 o'clock sharp. The purpose is to complete a citizens' organization to secure full registration and vote at the coming city election. The meeting is called by a committee of citizens, which declares that prompt, effective, concerted action is essential, in the interest of the enduring prosperity of the city, the security and the continuance of good government.

SHE GETS THE LAND.
Registrar Buren and Receiver Robinson of the local land office have decided to contest a homestead entry of forty acres of valuable land near Sunland, and within the government reservation set apart by proclamation of the President, December 22, 1907, in favor of the contestee, Dolores Nicholas. The forest and field service of the government appeared to prosecute the case and the matter may be appealed.

DRUMSTICKS GONE.
That some chicken fancier was busy Thursday night is the belief of L. Zarlowsky, No. 1327 East First street, who lost a number of chickens. He has no clue to the guilty party.

Public Service: City Hall, Courts.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The acting chief engineer of the Bureau of Harbor Improvements was instructed yesterday to draw up plans and specifications for $450,000 worth of improvements in the outer harbor, the work to be done during the first six months of next year.

A woman, who is suing to recover several thousand dollars, which she claims to be her own, but which the Public Administrator holds as part of the estate left by her husband, may be able to prove ownership by her nickname written on the wrappings.

At the City Hall.

THOUSANDS FOR OUTER HARBOR.

COMMISSION PREPARING PLANS FOR NEXT YEAR.

Acting Chief Engineer of the Bureau of Harbor Improvements Is Directed to Arrange for Specifications that Will Involve Six Hundred and Fifty Thousand Dollars.

The Board of Public Works believes that the harbor improvements are a money-making proposition and is laying all its plans for the expenditure of $450,000, on the improvement of the outer harbor between January 1 and June 30, 1912. The Acting Chief Engineer Vincent of the Bureau of Harbor Improvements was directed yesterday afternoon by the board to begin work at once on plans and specifications calling for the letting of contracts aggregating $250,000 in January, $250,000 in February, and $150,000 in March, all on the outer harbor. It is understood that the greater part of this money will be expended in and around the Huntington fill.

The board has written a sharp reply to the Realty Board's inquiry as to the progress of work on the outer harbor, reiterating its statement to the Harbor Commission, and the City Council that it cannot do any work without money. The communication is approved by the Bureau of Harbor Improvements.

"On August 5, 1910 the franchise for the Huntington fill expired, and the board took immediate steps to have the City Council take action on the plan, it having been previously determined by the Board of Public Works that it was the most important local project for development of the outer harbor."

"Favorable action was taken by the Council without delay. In April, 1910 the City of Los Angeles bonded the issue of $1,000,000 for the development of harbor work in Los Angeles harbor, $2,000,000 of which was to be disbursed for improvements in the outer harbor."

"Immediately following this vote of the citizens of Los Angeles, the legality of the bond issue was raised, and the matter was submitted to the courts for determination. With the determination of the question in favor of the city, which decision was not made until last July, the city authorities took immediate steps to have the bonds engraved, and the time for this service consumed sixty days, which brought the period up to the present, and, in fact, the period for the furnishing of the bonds has not yet expired, but the City Council, in order to get the bonds ready to be delivered, the bonds were authorized when same should be received from the engravers, advertised $500,000 of $1,000,000 issue for sale. The date set for opening the bids was the 23rd day of October, 1911, and that on that day, no bids were received."

"It will be readily understood that the Board of Public Works cannot carry on construction work in the outer harbor of Los Angeles without money. Further, the Board of Public Works has plans all ready and specifications to advertise for material whenever it shall be in position, by reason of having the bond money, to carry on the work."

WANTS COWS TESTED.

HEALTH COMMISSIONER'S IDEA.

Out of the 1600 to 2000 small dairy herds, that furnish Los Angeles with milk, Milk Inspector Hart reported yesterday to Health Commissioner Powers only one has submitted the cows composing it to the tuberculin test. In one dairy 40 per cent. of the herd are infected, and in many others bovine tuberculosis is known to exist, Hart says. So important does the Health Commissioner consider it that he has prepared an ordinance for the consideration of the City Council next Tuesday, directing all dairy herds to submit to the test.

If the Council shall pass this soon, he says, he will be able to get the services without cost to the city, as it will be done by the animal inspectors of the Department of Agriculture, a number of whom from the Bureau of Animal Inspection are now here from Washington.

"But isn't it a fact that Dr. Koch denied that bovine tuberculosis could be transmitted to human beings?" Dr. Powers was asked.

"Ten years ago in London, Dr.

Koch read a paper, in which he did make that statement," replied Dr. Powers, "but the British government appointed a commission on which upon investigation reported that bovine tuberculosis could be transmitted. Two years ago Dr. Koch amended his original statement and held that while tuberculosis of the lungs could not be transmitted to the milk other tubercular complaints could be."

"Theodore Smith and W. H. Parks have proved that bovine tuberculosis is transmissible, the latter showing that it was detected in 23 per cent. of the cases examined. The German government has sustained the contention that it is transmissible to human beings, since then. Bovine tuberculosis is found in such complaints as hip disease, hunchbacks, lupus, ulcers of the leg, diseased bones, and the like. Los Angeles is in a different condition with regard to its milk supply from almost any other large city in the country. Instead of having large dairies, importing herds of from five to ten cows, dairymen are a mere side issue and, of course, does not receive the attention that it should receive or would if the business were conducted on a larger scale. I hope that the City Council will pass this ordinance, for it is needed and it will save the city a large sum of money if the law is adopted at this time."

SENDS PLAN BACK.

SAN PEDRO STREET LINE.

That Bion J. Arnold plan for the relief of the congestion on Main street is giving the City Council and the Board of Public Utilities, and incidentally, the City Attorney, a great deal to talk about.

The City Council last Tuesday referred the plan to the Board of Public Utilities to talk it over with the Pacific Electric Company, but the board did not talk it over. It discussed the plan yesterday afternoon among its own members and Secretary Comstock was directed to prepare a communication to the City Council informing the Council that the board approves the idea of having the Pacific Electric build the road as planned, subject to conditions already published on several occasions as to the city taking over the line whenever it may want to do so.

The board would have preferred to have the city use San Pedro street for the municipal road, but since the City Attorney said this could not be done unless a franchise is applied for by the Pacific Electric Company, if the city, the board admitted, the plan recommended for consideration by the Council is all that can be followed.

CITY HALL NOTES.

Health Commissioner Powers has appointed Josephine L. Breed and Zeda G. Higgins as district nurses in the health department, and John MacLean and E. D. Swager as inspectors. F. J. Hoffman has been named as substitute for Fruit Inspector Drummond during the latter's vacation of six months.

The discussion of the general franchise ordinance as framed by the conference that has had it in charge has been postponed until next Friday, as the railway people have not had time to prepare their objections in detail.

The Board of Public Utilities, which was appealed to in an effort to reduce fares on the street car lines, has found that there is no law under which it can act.

The Pacific Electric Railway Company will have to lower its Long Beach road grade at Twentieth street and conform to the grade of the city—that is—it will have to do so if the City Council shall approve the Board of Public Utilities' recommendation of yesterday afternoon.

WIDOW ASSERTS SHE WRAPPED THOUSANDS IN PAPER.

Public Administrator Alleges that Money Found in Safe Deposit Box Belonged to Deceased's Estate. She Says She Placed It There and It's Hers.

Laura L. Cross yesterday began suit in the Superior Court to recover $15,000 in cash which she asserts she placed in a safe deposit box used jointly with her husband and which since his death has been held to be a part of her estate.

Mrs. Cross, the widow of John Cross, who died August 5, and left a substantial estate, asserts she wrapped the cash in a newspaper and marked it "Louie," her nickname, and that it belongs to her personally.

The plaintiff complains that she went to the Citizens National Bank and sought admission to the strongbox, but that it was denied, and that later Public Administrator Bryson, who was placed in custody of Cross's estate by the court, claimed the $15,000 as part of Cross's wealth.

The cash was in two packages, the plaintiff says. One contained $5000 in fourteen bundles of $500 each, and two of $1000 each, and the other $10,000 was in twenty bundles of $500 each.

Mrs. Cross makes the bank and Bryson defendants in the suit, and demands the $15,000 and 7 per cent. interest from October 25.

FAILS TO PAY FEE. COURT APPOINTS RECEIVER.

Its failure to pay a $1500 fee to McDonnell & Hiett, who rendered legal services in its organization, ended yesterday by Judge Conley in extra session of the Superior Court appointing a receiver for the International Car Seal Manufacturing Company. The concern at its incorporation about two years ago was capitalized at $2,000,000. McDonnell & Hiett said they got but 75 cents of their promised fee.

Proceedings by the Hillside Construction Company, to which the attorneys assigned their claim, minus the 75 cents, brought about the receivership. Judgment had been obtained previously and an attachment on the International Company plant, on the Long Beach car line at Florence avenue, netted the plaintiff $1082.25.

Judge Conley invested his clerk, Capt. Shea, with receivership powers, and the plaintiff hopes to realize the balance of the judgment in its favor from letters patent and the rights thereunder to manufacture automatic car seals, semaphores and duplex shaft locks.

ONLY ONE EXECUTOR. MINUTES MAKE DIFFERENCE.

Affidavits filed in the Probate Court yesterday, which establish the respective time of death of Dr. E. S. Pillsbury and his wife, Emma, of Hollywood, will, it is expected, facilitate the legal proceedings in connection with the settling of their estates.

The affidavits bear the signatures of Arthur W. Atha and wife, Estelle W. Atha, and Mrs. Sadie Series of Ventura, who were occupants of an automobile closely following the Pillsbury machine just before it plunged from the Castles Pass September 3. They were the first persons to reach the side of Dr. and Mrs. Pillsbury and their children after the accident, and they state Mrs. Pillsbury survived her husband fifteen minutes.

The combined Pillsbury estates are valued at $100,000. With the affidavits, the Title Insurance and Trust Company filed a petition for letters of administration.

DIDN'T EAT WORMS. THOUGHT NOBODY LOVED HIM.

That he was "down and out and nobody cared for him" was the reason given by 15-year-old Philip Olgyn in Juvenile Court yesterday for attempting to rob the rooms of guests of San Diego and Mrs. Philip was apprehended in a third-story room by the proprietor and a guest. They barely prevented him from leaping to death from a window. Then, it was said, the boy turned on them and put up such a resistance that it was necessary to call another guest and a policeman. When Philip saw the latter's brass buttons he subsided.

Judge Wilbur learned that Philip's father is a cripple and his mother dead, and after a kindly talk, which showed that the youngster, sent him to the State School at Whittier, where he will be taught a trade.

TO DISCOURAGE IT. FINED FOR CARRYING GUN.

"If you send me to jail, I'll only be an expense to the State, whereas if you put me on probation I may become a credit to the community."

James R. Cogan, found guilty of having assaulted J. E. Crossan with a deadly weapon, made this argument on appearing before Judge Willis yesterday for sentence, but it missed the mark.

"Young man," said the court, "let me tell you something. The fellow who carries a gun to protect himself from robbers, as you say you did, is not only likely to do as you did, but surrender his gun along with his cash when he is held up. As a lesson to you and other gun carriers I fine you $200. You must pay it by 5 o'clock this afternoon or go to jail and serve one day for each $2, your sentence not to exceed 150 days."

Cogan shot Crossan as a result of a row over a lodging-house deal, in which, he charged, Crossan got all of his savings and made no return. He said he happened to have the gun at the time, and fearing Crossan pulled it, with the result that it was discharged in the struggle.

New Incorporations.

MODERN JUDGE PLAYS SOLOMON.

BUT, INSTEAD OF ONE CHILD, HE DISPOSES OF SIX.

Famous Wilson Brood Is Stirred to Profound Depths When the Law Speaks—The Twins' Burst Into Tears, but Grief Turns to Joy—Foster Mother's Victory.

Solomon, in all his glory, had nothing on Judge Wilbur, who was called upon yesterday to decide the custody of six children. And the modern judge decided the case without the sword play to which the wizard of old resorted.

As a result of the court's ruling, Mrs. W. Wilson left the courtroom practically assured that she will be permitted to play mother permanently to the older children of her adopted brood, whom the Humane Society endeavored to wrest from her. She was given temporary custody of two, permanent custody (conditional) of three and must surrender to his parents only the wee baby, John Doe Ferguson.

The court scored Mrs. Wilson for laxity in the conduct of her household, before making his decision. It seemed to Vivian and Vylene, the girls known as "the twins," when Judge Wilbur began to speak, that they were to be taken from their foster mother. Both burst into tears and in a few seconds were sobbing convulsively.

Mrs. Wilson went to Vivian to quiet her, and the court ordered her to return to her seat. When it dawned on Mrs. Wilson, their joy was as pronounced as had been their grief.

All of the children were declared dependents by the court. The attention of Mrs. Wilson was emphatically called to that. It means that if untoward charges come up again and are supported, the children will be taken away from her.

Royal, the third of the youngsters, as at the other hearings, assumed care of John Doe. The court's order means they are soon to be separated, however. John, it is decreed, must be returned to his parents, if they can be located, and in case they cannot, their home will probably be found for him.

Similar disposition is to be made of the Twichell baby, John Doe. He is placed directly under the supervision of Mrs. Wilson, and will remain with Mrs. Wilson only as long as shall be necessary to arrange for the transfer.

After striking and severely injuring C. C. Vining, janitor of the Pico Heights postoffice, yesterday afternoon at 2:15 o'clock, a reckless driver of a delivery wagon whipped his horses and hurried away. His identity is unknown.

Vining was loading mail sacks from a street car onto a mail cart and was between the cart and the car. He was knocked under the car, falling to the ground heavily, and sustaining a broken left elbow. He was picked up by C. H. Brainerd and taken to the Emergency Hospital, where the fracture was reduced. He was afterward taken to his home, No. 1324 West Pico street.

Vining is 63 years old and a cripple. He has been in the employ of the government for several years.

His cousin was called "Lieutenant," because his father was a lieutenant in the royal army. One child was born in a maternity home. Covington is here to place an exhibit of pineapple juice in the Shrine Auditorium next week. The Royal Hawaiian Orchestra will be here. E. L. Burt, president of the Pinetree Sales Company, will arrive today. He is considered the most influential man on the island.

WEIRD PUZZLE FOR THE LAW.
Woman Arrested on Daughter's Information.
Each Tells Plausible Story, Though Conflicting.
Charges Leave Detectives in Perplexity.

Mrs. Hattie Slack Russell, owner of extensive realty and ranching interests in Soledad Canyon, nine miles from Newhall, was arrested yesterday afternoon, upon information furnished by her daughter, Mrs. Mildred Russell Neal.

Mrs. Hattie Slack Russell, her daughter, the mother of the child, is the accuser. Mrs. Russell, in turn, accuses the daughter, Mrs. Mildred Russell Neal.

Russell Neal, charging her with the killing of her grand-daughter, June 28, 1910. The arrest was made by Chief Detective Browne and Detective Campbell of the District Attorney's office, and the prisoner was taken to the County Jail.

The arrest and the exhumation of the infant remains were attended by dramatic incidents. As the box containing the tiny skeleton was removed from its resting place under a mound of earth in the back yard of the former home of Mrs. Russell, Mrs. Neal confronted her. The two women stood looking into each other's eyes for over a minute without flinching. Then Detective Browne, pointing to the box, requested Mrs. Neal to repeat her former accusation against her mother.

Mrs. Neal reiterated the confession she had made to Browne, before witnesses, the day previous.

"My mother strangled my hour old baby, sixteen months ago," she said, according to Browne, "she used a handkerchief and knotted it tightly about the infant's neck. Then she placed it in the back yard in a box, and later buried it."

"That's not true," Mrs. Russell flashed back, according to Browne. "I had been to Los Angeles on the day the baby was born. When I returned I found a piece of a blanket tied about the baby's throat. It was dead then, and when I went and took it in my arms, I unconsciously knotted it about the child's neck to keep it from yelling. She did not want any of the hired men to know about it."

Between the above statements, which are vouched for as authentic by Detective Browne, the detectives will have to strike a middle course for the truth. Last night, despite the fact that Mrs. Russell was under arrest, there was a feeling about the District Attorney's office that the investigation of certain angles of the weird case may involve other persons.

The birth and death were secrets locked in the family closet of the Russells, and were not even unfolded to Mrs. Neal's husband until a few days ago. He immediately informed the District Attorney's office.

Mute evidence that a great untruth had been told by one of the women is contained in a little pile of baby clothes found at the home of Mrs. Russell in Soledad Canyon. The clothes were new and apparently home-made. They had never been used.

The preparation of this attire is a disputed question by the women. Mrs. Neal asserts that the clothes are the product of her own hands, while her mother asserts she made them. The younger woman alleges that she sewed them under protest, and principally during the absence of her mother. Mrs. Russell is positive in her statement that she made the infant's attire, and has offered to demonstrate this by specimens of her own needlework.

TWELFTH MAN'S SEAT EMPTY

ter in your mind, haven't you?" asked Horton.

"I have."

"And you have reached some conclusions, have you not?"

"I don't think I have reached any definite conclusion."

"You know Job Harriman, don't you?"

"Yes."

"And you have known him for a long time?"

"Have you been in his office since you were subpoenaed as a juror in this case?"

"No, sir."

"Did you ever discuss the question of the weight of circumstantial evidence with Will Harker?" asked Horton.

"Yes, a number of times," was the reply.

"Didn't you state to him that you couldn't hang a man on circumstantial evidence alone?"

"I don't know that I ever did."

"Didn't you state to Harker that you would not convict a man on circumstantial evidence nor hang a man on such evidence?"

"I don't remember."

Blunkerton went on to explain that he had many arguments with Harker about evidence in various cases and that he had generally taken the stand that circumstantial evidence was weak. He said that his opinion in this regard was not fixed.

bring in a verdict according to the evidence. After reading all the testimony and hearing what Blunkerton had to say, Judge Bordwell discharged the talesman upon the ground that it is very uncertain how he would regard circumstantial evidence.

WOULD RECALL TALESMAN.

Attorney Davis at this juncture raised an old issue to the effect that as one talesman had formerly been excused by the court under a technical ruling, he ought to be brought back. Davis argued that the case of T. J. Lee was similar to that of another prospective juror who was first excused under a misapprehension and then ordered back for examination. It was apparent that Davis's objection was for the purpose of getting certain things into the record in case of appeal. The court refused to recall Lee, who had shown strong bias against the prosecution.

W. H. Andrews, the last member of the third venire, was then called upon to fill the twelfth place in the box.

He first said that he lived near Highland Park and at present is occupied with caring for his various property interests. Formerly he was a fruit and grain farmer in a large way.

"You have a strong opinion about unions, haven't you?" asked the chief counsel for the defense.

"I have an opinion."

"What paper do you read?"

"I have read 'The Times' for many years. I also take other newspapers and magazines."

"You have read and heard a lot about labor unions, haven't you?"

"Yes, sir."

"Do you believe in strikes?"

"I do not," replied Andrews. "I have always thought that they failed to benefit workmen."

KNOWS WALKING DELEGATES.

"Were you against the strikes in Los Angeles last year?"

"Well, I was not against the men belonging to the union as much as I was against the practice of settling difficulties in that way."

In response to other questions Andrews ventured the opinion that walking delegates were more to blame for labor agitation than the rank and file of the membership. This made Darrow angry.

"You say you are against walking delegates," he said bitterly. "Do you think they ought to ride in automobiles instead of walking?" You don't

N. OPPORTUNITY.

A popular young woman at Long Beach clinched the nomination for the office of censor inspector. She should have accepted the place for the sake of taxing every color in the city to the limit.

SLIP.

A man at Portland, Or., was late for wife's birthday dinner and the lambast he with her slipper. The chastisement could have been deliciously appropriate had a lady wielded one of her wedding slippers.

THE FIRST GOLD.

Native Sons are endeavoring to locate a spot in Grass Valley where gold was discovered in this state. It would not be hard to locate the results of this discovery. All California stands a monument to at happy find.

ERO AND ROSES.

Zero in Nebraska, six inches of snow in Chicago and 16 degrees below the freezing point in Texas. Here no summer flowers die or wither. Here the roses lift their lips and lilies bare their white throats. The kisses of Pluvius and, although white silk suits are out of season, yet overcoats are an impertinence.

HEALTH AND WEALTH.

With the stream of golden sunlight arising upon Southern California these autumn days it would be difficult to avoid health and wealth. The sun is at once the greatest of all generators and germicides. Meanwhile, we sit in its flood of warmth to read how the apples of Illinois and Indiana have been destroyed by the cold of how the cotton of Texas is threatened by frost.

TATIONARY.

A point in politics which seems stationary in the face of all schemes for direct legislation is the laziness of the voter. It has been demonstrated that a country line anything in particular by carrying able questions straight to the voter who will not vote. On the other hand, the power of the people is not prejudiced by any measure or method, provided the individual voter sufficiently interested in his country to go to the polls. The stay-at-home voter only what is coming to him when he awakes to find himself facing conditions that are not to his liking.

NOT DANGEROUS.

The national administration is threatened with a terrific setback. Gifford Pinchot has decided that he cannot vote for Mr. Taft. The cruel man does not even want to write a naughty letter in which he repeats his letter to Theodore Roosevelt herein be told that one-time important person that "we have fallen back down the hill we led us up," and that Mr. Taft has abandoned the policies of the strenuous one. ol. George Harvey says this is a curious utter, but not necessarily effective, since people are likely to judge Mr. Taft by present conditions rather than snap judgment taken of him two years ago.

VENTRALIZING.

In the East there is much talk about so combining religious bodies that Protestant ministers may be reasonably sure of preaching to congregations appropriately large and receiving a salary sufficient for the support of themselves and their families. The average ministerial wage in America is no far below that of a hod carrier that the educated preacher must either abandon his work or suffer painful privations. Whether he view be taken that the ministry is an overcrowded profession or that in every city the various denominations are divided by too many congregations, the fact that the minister is underpaid remains a condition to be remedied. Los Angeles is singularly happy in its solution of this problem. Many of its denominations support large churches in the center of the city which are within easy reach of all who wish to attend them and which can, by reason of their strength in numbers, afford to employ men of large capacity and to pay them somewhat in proportion to their fine ability.

LIGHTHOUSE HEROINES.

The solitary life of the lighthouse seems to breed children of heroic natures. Or is it the close communion with the vast forces of nature? Grace Darling, daughter of the lighthouse keeper on one of the Frane Islands, earned immortal fame in the year 1838 by rowing a lifeboat to the wreck of the schooner "Forfarshire" and saving nine seamen from certain death. She has long been the favorite heroine of British school children in picture, story and song.

America has a lighthouse heroine who has just performed a feat worthy to rank with that of the maid of Farn. Elsie Fullerton, almost a babe in years, while her father's dead body was rolling helplessly in the wash of the sea, for twelve dark and lonely hours tended the Round Island light in fulfillment of her father's teaching that a "lighthouse keeper's daughter ought to be brave," and because she knew that he would "want her to watch the light."

When an 8-year-old child can show so earnest a spirit as this we may well be proud of the American sense of duty. Opportunity and training make the heroine. There are many unknown Grace Darlings and Elsie Fullertons among our daughters of the Golden West ready to show the lighthouse spirit should occasion call for the display of similar devotion.

CO-OPERATION WILL DO IT.

The question of the hour is how to keep Los Angeles from falling into the hands of Socialists. How is our devoted city to be kept out of the control of impracticable dreamers, theorists and walking delegates?

Admitting that among the supporters of Job Harriman there are many persons honest and earnest and who would not knowingly commit an overt act against the law, the fact still remains that the bulk of the socialist element is opposed to restraint. Certain teachers and leaders of that cult denounce the Christian religion, mock at the marriage tie and favor what is known as a "wide-open" town.

The Times does not believe that the majority of the people of Los Angeles desire to see their city ruled by a political party that has adopted the ideas above referred to. It seems unbelievable that Socialists constitute a majority of the voting population here. It is true that Milwaukee, Wis., and Butte, Mont., are governed by Socialists, but Los Angeles has always been considered to be as different in its character from those two towns as day is different from night.

Butte is a copper mining town and Milwaukee is a lager-beer town. Neither the one nor the other are communities anywhere near so important as Los Angeles is. It was not so much in the nature of a surprise that a rough-and-tumble mining camp and a brewery center should adopt socialism as it would be were a city like Los Angeles to adopt it. It is not the price of copper nor the price of beer that influences the prosperity of Los Angeles; nor is the unrivaled prospect of this city's future dependent upon whatever fluctuations the commodities above named may happen to undergo.

The argument has been put forth that if the Socialists triumph in Los Angeles at the coming election our city will suffer a severe setback. There can be no question as to the force of this argument. It is absolutely certain that capital would recoil from us were we to fall beneath a socialist onslaught. At this very moment more than one important project is held in abeyance awaiting the outcome of next month's election. A Socialist victory would mean the paralysis of our present prosperity.

To imagine that the people of Los Angeles will deliberately commit business and political suicide is a difficult feat for the mind to perform. It were as easy to imagine a human being in good health and financial prosperity going into a field and blowing out his own brains.

And yet, with all this, there is danger—and very grave danger—of a Socialist victory. If the same God-fearing, prosperous men of Los Angeles remain away from the polls on the fifth day of next month in as large a percentage of numbers as they remained away from the primaries of this week—or if they allow spite to dictate their votes—then Job Harriman will be the next Mayor of Los Angeles. Or, if the same, God-fearing women of the city fail to vote their entire strength at next month's polls disaster will just as surely ride upon the wind.

More than all this, and above all things else, there must be co-operation on the part of all the people opposed to Harriman's election in order that socialism may be defeated. We must stand shoulder to shoulder; we must forget our differences. All the people who have the good name and the material welfare of Los Angeles at heart must become as one unified, trusting and self-sacrificing household from which they will march in a solid phalanx to the polls.

What is it that will surely defeat Harriman and the entire Socialist ticket? The answer is CO-OPERATION. It is co-operation and co-operation alone that will do it. Nothing will so please the enemy—and God knows socialism is a real, a desperate and an venomous enemy—than to see the forces that oppose him divided and disrupted by squallid and senseless quarrels. The Socialists are wise with the wisdom of the serpent. They have nothing at stake and never will have anything at stake. They are blithe to tear down that which they did not build.

That The Times has no reason to love Mayor Alexander, or that this man or that woman has no reason to love him, is now neither here nor there. George Alexander stands at this hour as the hope of Los Angeles. Though we might not speak to him on the street, or he to us, we must forget even the suspicion of personal feeling in the face of the disaster that threatens the city. As between the Mayor and his dangerous opponent there cannot be the slightest hesitation on the part of any sane, honest voter to render Mr. Alexander the most vigorous and unselfish support.

Wherefore, men and brethren—likewise sisters—let us get into the fight, right now, without a moment's delay. To defeat the entire Socialist ticket is a duty upon us as grave as any duty which the people of any community ever faced. The election of the Good Government candidates means a continuation of our prosperity. Their defeat means stagnation and loss.

SMART, YOU KNOW?

Berlin has long been known to us as a great city, a worthy city, a rich city and, as cities go, even as a virtuous city. But this does not satisfy Berlin. Above all things she desires to be known as SMART. New York, Paris, London, Vienna—too long have these cities monopolized the character for "smartness." Berlin is about to enter the arena; she, too, will have a Waldorf-Astoria, a Ritz, a Carlton!

The Berlin Press is bubbling over with the great news that a vast hotel on American lines, a prohibitively expensive palace of potential smartness, is to be erected in the Kurfurstendamm. W. And the Kurfurstendamm, W. you will remember is one of Berlin's broad fashionable avenues—with a dignified reputation for wealth and respectability; the home of such unimpeachable souls as retired field-marshal, gentlemen who have been attached to embassies and people that can afford to have the very latest and most expensive illnesses.

The place has therefore been well chosen. The "smart" hotel is to be equipped with all the luxurious modern et ceteras that civilization has devised. Five hundred suites, Louis Seize decorations, steam-heating, cool air-pipes, vacuum cleaners, ice chests, electric curling irons, sun baths, roof gardens, barbers, automatic boot cleaners—the details are thrilling all Berlin daily.

Though costly, everything will be in the acme of practical good taste, and already Berlin sees visions of American millionaires, Russian Princes, Belgian and Portuguese

Looms Above the Dust.

Kings, and British noblemen lounging at their fashionable ease in the fireproof lobby.

Then comes the great problem of the name. It must be a name at once alluring to the foreign "smartness," dignified, expressive of all the fashionable enchantment the great walls are to hold. There was no German word to meet the requirements. Days and nights of impotent brain racking. Then the one word in the world to express that wealth of aristocratic, gorgeous refinement—The Boardinghouse!

It is too, too beautiful. And so deliciously foreign!

A SAMPLE OF SOCIALISM.

As a sop to the laborite Carver socialism in its mildest form has been attempted by the present Liberal government in Great Britain. The remarkable "success" that has attended this virgin effort ought to be a glaring advertisement of the wonderful benefits likely to follow a more extensive application of its beneficent theories. The Lloyd George system of land taxation—framed somewhat after the single-tax ideas of his American namesake—has produced results beyond the wildest hopes of the woolliest follower of the red flag. To collect a little over $5000 from the landed proprietors of England has cost the working people of the United Kingdom nearly a million and a half of their hard-earned money. The old-age pension bill, another socialist favorite, is calling for a huge sum to meet its provisions, and this sum seems to be beyond the power of an already overtaxed people. Yet a private insurance company could have attended to an old-age pension for the self-helpful and shown a handsome balance on the right side of the ledger.

The socialist creed, "from everyone according to his ability, to everyone according to his need"—seeing that ability and necessity are in direct opposite ratio and that our wants always exceed our capacity—is responsible for the present harassing financial condition of the Liberal leaders in Great Britain.

These two notable examples of the triumph of socialism ought to be very acceptable reading to the reds of Los Angeles. They will be delighted to see the saner side of socialism fail, to give them an excuse for urging the wilder alternative of anarchy, this being the real goal of Job Harriman and his red associates. It is only too evident what would be the ultimate fate of a country governed by a party willing to spend over $1,000,000 to exact a miserable $5000 from those who had incurred its jealousy or hatred. National bankruptcy would follow—a very pleasing consequence, no doubt, to the irresponsible few who are anxious to see the Stars and Stripes surmounted by the red revolution.

Many honest voters who believe in the radical policies and near-socialism of such leaders as Lloyd George and William Jennings Bryan would shrink from entrusting the fortunes of a city or a nation to the tender mercies of ruffians who follow the flag of anarchy and shout the "Marseillaise" and who are using socialism as a catapaw to wrest the management of Los Angeles from the control of the law-abiding element. But these are not the sentiments of the majority of the Socialist party, who are being deceived by their local leaders.

Ignorance beguiled by demagoguery may set an obstacle in the path of progress, but it will be only for a short time. The laws of trade are as certain as the laws of nature, and we betide the community or the individual who violates them!

The present financial troubles in England are a warning to all who favor ignorant tinkering with government. They may persuade misguided but honest thinkers of the folly of trying to fatten on dreams and vapors.

For the first time in nearly thirty years the Postoffice Department is now conducted at a profit. In two years a deficit of $17,479,770 has been changed to a surplus of $29,113. Take off your hats to Postmaster-General Hitchcock, who the wisacres said was too much of a politician to conduct the affairs of that great department.

THE CHEMISTRY OF LOVE.

Medical, physiological and psychological science has made great advances during the last sixty years. Darwin, and Tyndale, and Herbert Spencer traced us all back to polype clinging to Devonian rocks, but failed to announce any rules by which we could certainly determine whether our intermediate ancestors were oysters, or mollusks, or clams, or rattlesnakes, or toads, or frogs, or eagles, or crows, or nightingales, or elephants, or squirrels, or rhinoceroses, or when we became orang-outangs.

The Roentgen ray gave the medical practitioner an opportunity to examine the interior of his patients, but not until now have the emotions of man been subjected to scientific analysis and classification.

Dr. William Brown of Kings College, London, is now dealing with the problem of the emotions and the sentiments. In a recent lecture on "Emotions and Morals" he says that "a sentiment is a system of emotional disposition centered about the idea of some object." Felling in love is a crystallization of a whole set of emotional tendencies and ideas round about the object. The emotions of the human being correspond to the chemical elements. When a person "falls in love" a nucleus of ideas and emotions forms in the brain. These emotions all center around the object of affection. In time, if the state of love continues, these ideas become solidities and grow in strength. They become more and more compact as it were. If the state of love is very strong it is possible that the whole mind is attracted and merged in the central idea. In such cases sudden reversions may occur and the state of "being in love" may be suddenly abandoned. This is what happens when a man is suddenly converted in religion, or even unaccountably changes his politics.

It is all as clear as the meaning of a logarithm to a student in a kindergarten, or as is one of J. Ham Lewis's speeches on finance to the average reader. But Dr. William Brown is a specialist who can diagnose and ascertain the exact nature of the attack. He can tell the male patient whether he is suffering from an attack of puppy love, or of adolescent passion, or of deep desire for carnal felicity. He can inform the girl whether it is a case of evanescent yearning or of soul-centered adoration.

Since Dr. William Brown has discovered that love is a chemical condition the next step will be to discover the chemicals that can be used to govern the condition. A warning passion might be rejuvenated with a dose of spiritus viri fermenti and a violent and hopeless love reduced to subjection with an ice-water douche.

The ancient alchemists made love philtres of rosemary and love discouragement powders of rue. Maybe we shall yet see in the columns of our journals advertisements of "Burgina Infallible Promoter." One does not incline the maiden to favor your suit, and two doses will cause her to throw her arms about your neck and say, "Adolphus Grotius, I am thine." For sale at $1 per bottle at any drug store.

UNCLE WALT.

The Poet Philosopher.

I went downtown one night this week, to hear a great and good man speak—a famous man of high estate, whose views on current themes have weight. The hall was packed with dames and gents who gladly blew their fifty cents to see and hear a man of fame who figures in the world's big game. The clock at last struck half past eight; then Squigza, a legal welter-weight, got up to introduce the guest; he bowed, his hand upon his breast, and started in— we thought he'd quit in less than fifteen minutes. Nix! He had us where we couldn't flee, and plunged us deep in misery. He touched on all things in his talk; on Lexington and Plymouth Rock, on setting hens and village choirs, and eke the green graves of our sires, on tariff schedules and the way to find a market for our hay. The hours wore on the clock broke down, the lights went out through all the town; he talked until the daylight came, and when he quit the man of fame was lying senseless on the floor, knocked dizzy by the village bore. I do not doubt that you, some day, have suffered in the same sad way, and you'll agree that such a skate deserves the fiercest sort of fate.

THE BOY AND HIS JOB.

BY DR. FRANK CRANE.

[Woman's World for November:] If you work for a railroad, act as if whatever causes loss to the road causes loss to you. Be as careful of its property as if you owned it. If you are employed on a farm, take as much interest in anything that pertains to it as if it was your farm. Pick up a stray board, stop a leak, repair a lock, cover exposed machinery, and look after anything that falls to your notice, just as the farmer himself would do.

If you are a clerk in a store, get the thought in your mind that it is your store, and be as anxious as the proprietor to keep things neat, to attract customers, and to avoid losses.

When you work for a man, you do not work for wages. If your eye is only on your pay you are a second-class worker. You will certainly slight your work, and your employer will get rid of you as soon as he can.

You have something better than wages to work for, always; it is your Self, for your Future.

You owe it to your best Self to be loyal, to give the best that is in you. You are in a way a Partner in the concern. If your employer is an unjust and selfish person, and takes advantage of you overworks you, does not appreciate what you do, complains and never says an encouraging word, right there is where you are to show the stuff you are made of. Stick to your principle. Don't be like him. Keep on doing the best you can for him. When you cannot stand it any longer—quit. But never take a man's money and slight his work.

If you persist in this way, you are bound, sooner or later, to become known as a valuable man. Your services will be in demand. While you take active concern in your employer's affairs, don't be officious. Remember that every business is in a way a military affair. Some one head has to run it. The rest are to obey orders. Your responsibility lies in doing what you are told. If you think your orders are not wise, anyhow; the responsibility for them is not on your shoulders.

Get the habit of listening attentively to what your employer commands. Don't take things for granted. Have things made plain. Find out exactly what he wants, and do it.

Never hangle a job. What you do, do well. If you have to carry a horse, carry it clean. If you are to sweep the store, make it as tidy as a particular woman's parlor. If you are to be a clerk, learn how to make them look as though they had been done up by machinery. If your work is to black shoes, black the heels. Nobody wants a boy who is habitually negligent, slipshod and careless in his work.

Be punctual. Be just a little better than punctual. Never allow a human being to wait on you. If you are to be at the office at 7 sharp, be there a quarter to 7. Start always sooner than is necessary, and allow time for mishaps.

This is mainly a matter of habit. I have traveled many thousands of miles in all countries and I never missed but one train in my life.

If you have any business to do at your leisure, that is at any time you choose, do that business the first thing, just as soon as you can get at it, and play afterwards. Always get business done and out of the way before you begin to rest or to amuse yourself.

BE POLITE! (I hope the printer will set that in capital letters.) There is no one little trick that will help you make good more than getting the habit of being polite. Whenever you meet a woman you know take off your hat, whether it is the boss's wife or a wash-woman.

Whenever a woman enters the room where you are get up from your chair, whether it is a coquettish girl or a princess.

Whenever you sell anybody anything, if it is a 1-cent paper, say, "I thank you." Don't say "Thank you."

When you do not understand what is said to you, do not say "How?" or "What?" Say "I beg your pardon?" Some folks may poke vulgar fun at you, but you stick to being polite, and some day you will be hiring the vulgar funmakers, and discharging them.

The most offensive thing about Americans is their gruffness and lack of courtesy. Clerks, conductors, ticket agents and messenger boys seem to think it is "smart" to be short and sharp. There never was a greater mistake.

The manager of the United Cigar Stores, which are all over the country, instructs his salesmen to say "I thank you" to every one who makes a purchase.

MORE CORN, LESS SULPHUR.

[New York Herald:] All the President has said about it is that the laws will be enforced if it ruins him politically. All that Mr. Wickersham has said is that the corporations must come within the law.

Why, then, all this loose talk about Mr. Taft's being responsible for the destruction of all business? Business has not been destroyed. What is needed is a little more cheerfulness, more optimism. As was said of Kansas, they should "raise more corn and less h—l."

Do the assailants of Mr. Taft fancy that if Gov. Wilson of New Jersey, Gov. Harmon of Ohio, Gov. Marshall of Indiana, Gov. Foss of Massachusetts, or Speaker Champ Clark, were elected President under the political overturn they are seeking to promote they would be any better off so far as immunity is concerned? Would they any the less need a cyclonic cellar?

[Lippincott's:] When Lottie returned from her first visit to Sunday-school she was asked what she had learned. "I learned," "God made the world in six days and was arrested on the seventh day," was her version of the lesson imparted.

WOMEN'S WORK,
WOMEN'S CLUBS.

BY SYDNEY FORD.

"Eliminate the superfluous; the mainstay of construction in the structure of a hat or a house is in the lines, and the enrichment and refinement of these lines," advised Ernest A. Batchelder, expert designer, in his lecture yesterday before the Friday Morning Club.

Mr. Batchelder has spent months at a time in England and in Europe studying designs of all ages, from mediaeval times up to the present, and he has written an authoritative book on the subject of designing. He explained in the outline that it's one thing to make a hat with your hands, and quite another thing to talk about it. Designing explains itself without words and it's like interpreting on language into another way to talk it, but by means of chalk and a blackboard, and by means of some splendid lantern slides, Mr. Batchelder succeeded in holding the undivided attention and eager interest of the auditorium full of women, who followed absently every line on the blackboard and every picture on the screen.

Beside being highly entertaining, the lecture was most instructive. It made one resolve to observe architecture as never before and to pick out the fine points and not let the lines escape attention. Not a woman there but went away with a clearer conception and appreciation of the art of construction.

Mr. Batchelder's recipe for construction points out that one must take into consideration a lot of things in building a cabinet or a cathedral. First, its use, then its environment. Its construction should be in accordance with the practical and aesthetic side and the refinement and enrichment of both, together with the texture and the colors employed. When you have determined these things, then mix a great deal of good judgment and fine feeling with all these phases, and you may evolve something beautiful.

Sounds rather complicated, doesn't it? It's no small trick to be a designer. Mr. Batchelder very cleverly demonstrated on the blackboard the evolution of the great open fireplace—big enough to swallow a big black whole—the ancient New England farmhouse, along generation after generation, each one adapting it to its needs, till that big, beautiful fireplace, inglenook and all had shrunk to the miserable, smelly little Florence burner oil stove of the present age.

First, the fireplace was cut down half because the wood was so plenty to burn when the second generation took possession of the old farmhouse. The next generation closed up the balance of the fireplace and substituted a "Franklin burner." The next that came out and put up a wretched little bandy-legged stove and the last put in the horrid oil heater.

The first picture on the screen was of the Town Hall at Birmingham, England, which was modeled after a building in Rome. Now Birmingham has no climate at all—just weather—and foggy, wet weather, and the sunny Italy is all warmth and sunshine, and the massive pillars which there furnished grateful shade and made a picturesque background for the piazza's loungers, the porticoes only served to exclude the pale, weak cloudy daylight from the English counterpart. This illustrated the folly of ignoring environment.

Going on from buildings to baskets, pottery, ornamental metal work, etc., Mr. Batchelder showed how the Indian women and the Hungarian peasants weave baskets and embroider as spontaneously as nature as a bird sings. He put in a plea for frankness and not affectation in designs. Why make a folding bed to look like a bookcase? It is this lack of spontaneity and candor, in his opinion, that makes the modern designer the inferior of those ancient artists of the old world, whose art and architecture are being constantly copied and reproduced in the new world.

Next Tuesday afternoon from 3 until 5 o'clock the annual reception to the incoming and outgoing officers and members of the house of the world will be held, to which all members are cordially bidden.

Women, It's Up to You.
Unquestionably, the result of the coming election, in December rests with the women of Los Angeles. There's no dodging the issue and we might as well look at the situation squarely in the face—and then brace ourselves for action.

As long ago as last August I wrote these words: "Isn't it true that the enemies of justice and individual freedom are arrayed on the side of the suffragists? That the labor unions and Socialists of California will vote solidly for it, in the hope that the ballots of their wives and daughters, their mothers and sweethearts, will so swell their votes in political issues that they can claim whatever they will? Is Los Angeles to be ruled by a Socialist Mayor—a defender of dynamite?"

Was it a true prophecy? If you will take the pains to look over the returns from the two elections just past—the one for suffrage in October, and that of last Tuesday—and compare the results, precinct by precinct, you will find that, almost without exception, the precincts that voted strongest for suffrage, also voted in a majority for Harriman.

We who honestly and earnestly opposed suffrage were roundly abused by suffragettes. We were accused of having no brains, no arguments, no platform of any sort to stand on. The little bunch of club women—who there are less than 2500, all told, in Los Angeles city—were blinded to the fact that there was a tremendous factor to reckon with—the other woman—which has in this case proved to be the socialist.

But that is all past and done with. The issue has been forced upon us and it must be met and mark you, the women from now must meet it squarely and fairly will be the women who saw fartherest and thought hardest by opposing suffrage stoutest. Already men there is a strong feeling among the suffrage leaders to plead the baby act and shift the responsibility onto the shoulders of the 40,000 men who failed to vote last Tuesday. Away with such cowardice! Stand up to the rack like a woman and shoulder the responsibility you were so eager to grasp. Put the burden where it properly and justly belongs. It's up to the women!

Parent-Teacher Activities.
Superintendent Francis will give a talk at the meeting of the Main-street Parent-Teacher Association, next Wednesday, and there will also be a musical program.

The Main-street circle held an interesting meeting last Wednesday, a feature of which was an address by Mrs. D. K. Trask on "Facts and Fancies Concerning the Mother and How to Reconcile Them." The pupils of Miss Lettier, assisted by Lefroy Gangstad, furnished musical numbers. This branch of the Parent-Teacher Association elation will give an entertainment November 25 at Rhodes Hall under the management of Mrs. E. L. Spencer, in the form of a New England village fair. A cafeteria supper will be served and many novel features introduced. Next Wednesday this very active circle will have an all day sewing bee at the home of Mrs. C. B. Knickerbocker, No. 5606 South Main street.

Eagle Rock Club.
The Women's Twentieth Century Club of Eagle Rock will give a flower show this afternoon and evening at Symphony Hall, Eagle Rock. This is the first effort of the kind in the valley and a brilliant display of flowers and plants and vegetables for sale and refreshments will be served. It is hoped that the show will be so successful as to be made an annual feature of this section.

HOW THEY TALK.
Remarks caught at a Socialist gathering and sent to The Times.
"Now we have a Socialist Mayor. Now we don't have to believe in your Jesus Christ! Now, we don't have to believe in your religion. Down with religion!"

"Pope Leo suppressed socialism in France because its fundamental principle was down with religion, because of holy things. Pope Leo was a patriot and statesman."

"Socialism is opposed to all religion, especially the Catholic, because they say, 'The Catholic hold together stronger than any other religion.'"

"Pope Leo wrote and caused articles to be published in all the leading papers and magazines in France urging the people against socialism as an enemy to religion."

"A negro candidate for Councilman in Los Angeles had been an American flag in the procession I would not have walked in it."

"Many socialists brought from San Francisco and more coming all the time."

"Capture Los Angeles and the rest will be easy."

A CALL TO DUTY.
Precinct Leaders Appeal to Voters to Get Together to Avert the Menace of Socialism.

The following call was sent out yesterday by the voters of Precinct 179: The fair name, the financial credit and the future progress of the beautiful city of Los Angeles are threatened. The largest assembly of the Socialist party at the primary election has given them prestige, courage and the ability to conduct a still more aggressive campaign for the election in December than they were able to do before the primary.

Shall we permit them to ruthlessly destroy what Los Angeles has heretofore guarded so jealously, and its citizens have worked so hard to build up and maintain, and which we have all been so justly proud?

Every patriotic citizen, both men and women of Precinct 179 are urged to get together to present a united front to the menace of Socialism. A meeting called for the purpose of organizing a "Get-together" club, the object of which shall be the election of George Alexander and the entire ticket on December 5. The meeting will be held at the English Lutheran Church, on West Thirty-sixth place, just off from Vermont avenue, on Monday, November 6.

Sink your differences, and bury all your animosities, at least for the time being, and join with us in averting the great calamity to the city of Los Angeles, which the election of Harriman and the Socialist ticket would mean.

Don't forget the date and place. Everybody come.
[Signed]

A MESSAGE TO MEN.
Laymen Addresses Gathering at St. Paul's Parish House on Subject of World-Wide Missions.

J. W. Wood of New York, secretary of the board of missions of the Episcopal Church, addressed a meeting of the St. Paul's Parish House last night. He gave a comprehensive account of the world-wide mission enterprises of the denomination, showing the intimate and accurate knowledge of the situation. Speaking of the home field, he said, among other things:

"In far-away New England, I know of a diocese that yet receives aid from the general board, in order to keep its worth going. And I sometimes think of this country as being another far-away New England, where you too receive aid from the general board, but you have given notice that you will not accept it. The church seems to be the goal of all ambition out here, you will entirely relieve the board of this aid."

He stated that there are in this country 1400 Episcopal missionaries, for the support of whom the church pays $700,000 annually. He spoke in a most interesting way of the work in China, Japan and Africa. He is a pleasant speaker, so thoroughly familiar with his subject, that every word counts. He will be heard again in St. Paul's Pro-Cathedral on Sunday night, when all the Episcopal churches of the city will unite in a mass-meeting.

ILLEGALITY CHARGED.
J. D. Adams, a deputy constable under George Lyons, yesterday arrested William S. Stock, on a charge of having voted illegally at the primary last Tuesday. Stock is alleged to have voted in Precinct No. 210, from which he had moved three weeks prior to the election. He is employed by W. F. Fuller & Co., and L. E. Webster, sales manager, signed his bond in the sum of $2000. He will be arraigned before Judge Young this morning at 9 o'clock.

Get-together Meeting.
A routing get-together meeting was held last evening at Grand avenue and Jefferson street by the voters of Precinct 158, opposing the threatened Socialist position of the city. The principal speaker was Phil Stanton, who made a powerful plea for the continuance in office of the officials whose tenure is a guarantee of continued prosperity and order. A large turnout of voters applauded him enthusiastically.

Had their plan succeeded they would have been placed in possession of many names of persons who desire to register in order to vote for Alexander."

LOYALTY CAMPAIGN.

Y.M.C.A. AFTER MEMBERS. In connection with the "loyalty membership campaign" of the Y.M.C.A., the first entertainment in the "stag fun fest" was given last night at the association building, under the direction of B. H. Dyer and L. C. Louis. Others taking part were: J. Shreve Durham, Rev. Oren B. Walte, Dr. William Horace Day, Rev. Robert Freeman, Rev. John Oliver H.C. G. son, and others. In the evening there will be vaudeville stunts, moving pictures, minstrel, wrestling, tumbling and boxing. All men and boys are invited to visit the building on these evenings and enjoy the fun—particularly those who are not members. E. C. Lyon is chairman of the Campaign Committee, and he appeals to all men who are not yet members, to show their loyalty by helping raise the membership to 6000 before the assembling here of the international convention in 1913, and keeping it at the head of the list of associations of the world. The campaign opened on November 1, and has progressed satisfactorily during the three days.

(2) Belshazzar, while he drank, was commanded to bring the golden and silver vessels which Nebuchadnezzar his father had taken out of the temple of his gods, and to bring them to the king's house, and to set them on the table of the king. When Mrs. Tout, the Imperial Valley contestant, read in yesterday's Times that she had come to Los Angeles to do her winter shopping, she was much surprised. She stoutly denied any such intention.

And Now for the Last Day of This Week's Most Extraordinary Success!

We expected success—the values we'd prepared could have had no other result—and while it was a success so tremendous, so overwhelming as to leave us dumfounded at its very immensity, in looking back over the week we see that we would have been justified in placing our expectations very much higher than we did. Values were so great we, ourselves underestimated them!

Shop on a Transfer for Convenience

Of unremitting activity, honest value giving and readiness to correct any and all mistakes has resulted in our growing from the store of 20x100 ft. to one with nearly thirteen acres of floor space.

This is true because strict integrity, optimism, open-mindedness, liberality—in short all the broad-gauge Hamburger policies characterized all our dealings from the very first—they are the vital elements in our success—its imperishable foundation.

We've led the way in progress and all that made for the betterment of conditions—not in our own business merely but in whatever had to do with the uplift and upbuilding of Los Angeles itself. We won our right to leadership this way!

Mrs. Otis B. Tout of Calexico.

Imperial Valley contestant who has nearly 300,000 points and is going out to get more.

get further information and prepare for the finish of her canvass for subscriptions with renewed energy in the valley, and has decided to do $12,000 worth of shopping in the Imperial Valley just as soon as she gets that first prize that she is after.

If the Imperial Valley wants its candidate to win the first prize and is in earnest, then it is a foregone conclusion that if she does not win it, 'tis not the fault of the people there.

The few years of its history, in which a fertile valley developed from an arid desert, amply demonstrates that the strong hearts and willing hands of the people there deem nothing too great for their performance. If they fully make up their minds that their candidate has to win the first prize, then they have to be reckoned with by the other contestants.

Other contestants made pleasant visits yesterday, among whom were Mrs. Cole, Mrs. Reed, Everett Foss, Mrs. Watson, Mrs. Dunseath, Jean Hiriart, and productive letters were received from Clair Tucker, Upland; Pearl O'Connell, Norwalk; Lois Irene Benton, Azusa, and Harry Michle, Riverside. All of these made very substantial gains as their scores this morning in the bulletin indicate.
